Favors Good Lively Fight

Ike Wants GOP to Agree on Policy, Then Select Best-Qualified Candidate

BY JACK BELL and MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower wants Republicans to battle out policy differences publicly at the 1964 convention—and then pick a presidential candidate best representing majority views proclaimed in a terse party platform.

In an interview with The Associated Press, Eisenhower said he would "like to see a good lively fight" among delegates on the GOP's course. In this way "you could have the feeling of consensus of Republican thought" in the choice of presidential and vice presidential nominees.

Eisenhower, who wants this sort of wide-open policy debate on the convention floor, met with AP reporters in his office on the Gettysburg College campus. Here are

Haitian Hurricane Death Toll Set at 2,000 to 4,000

Rains, Winds Lashing at Southeast Cuba for Fifth Day as Disaster Grows

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Flora still hovered over southeast Cuba today, its relentless rains and buffeting winds lashing the island for the fifth consecutive day.

The Weather Bureau in Miami said no storm in 75 years had battered one area for so long. Flora's winds were dropping, but there was no indication when its drenching torrents would dissipate or move on.

Residents in the southeastern Bahamas were warned to take emergency precautions immediately against strong winds and high tides. Flora was forecast to pass over or near Acklins Island late in the afternoon or early evening and Crooked Island a short time later.

As the storm plunged Cuba's Communist regime into the worst economic disaster of its nearly five years in power, neighboring Haiti reported Flora had killed

Heller Forecasts $600 Billion Level For U.S. Economy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government's top economist predicted today that the national economy will hit the $600 billion level for the first time early next year—and bring more benefits to consumers.

The forecast came from Dr. Walter W. Heller, chairman of President Kennedy's Council of Economic Advisers in connection with the submission of the first report to the Kennedy of the Consumer advisory Council.

American Vice Consul Bob Hommet, second from left, and other people who participated in the search for members of an expedition in Mexico confer with some of the party. They were rescued Monday from the famed Mexican Copper Canyon in Chihuahua state, in which the expedition became stranded.

14 Explorers Surprised to Hear of Search

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico (AP)—A group of American explorers, none of whom had been heard from in more than a week, arrived here today greatly surprised that a search had been launched for them.

The explorers, including two young women, were discovered Monday at the primitive village of Creel, located about 7,600 feet above sea level in the mountains of northwest Mexico.

Ten men and the two women arrived by train at 3 a.m. (EST) today. Two other members of the party, with vacation time still on their hands, went to the Pacific coast resort of Las Mochis.

The party was greeted at the station by James D. Dean, 31, of Salt Lake City, Utah. Dean was a member of the expedition when it started a proposed 120-mile float trip Sept. 25 down the Rio Urique.

The river flows through the Barranca de Cobre gorge, an area described as more rugged and dangerous than the Grand Canyon in Arizona.

The party covered only eight miles in four days because of low water and boulders in the river. Running low on food, Dean and Larry Davis, 26, of Price, Utah, left on foot to pick up supplies at a mining camp. It took them another four days to cover 15 miles. They finally met some Indians who took them to the camp.

Probers Hunting Source of Poisoned Smoked Whitefish

None Sold in Fox Cities Area; 4 Deaths Reported in 2 States

DETROIT (AP) — Government investigators hunted with test tubes today for the source or sources of poisoned smoked whitefish blamed for four deaths in two states.

A Michigan producer of smoked whitefish held off on further operation after ordering the destruction of all its distributed stock.

Two deaths from deadly botulism Monday in Tennessee — following by six days two similar deaths in Michigan — led to the precautions.

One Critically Ill Eight other persons were ill in Tennessee, one critically.

At least seven of the victims had eaten smoked whitefish, medical authorities said.

The Federal Food and Drug Administration at Washington ordered tests of Michigan whitefish.

8 Sentenced in Bombing Series

MONTREAL (AP)—Eight young men have been sentenced to prison for the rash of antigovernment bombings in the Montreal area last spring. All pleaded guilty.

The bombings were the work of the Quebec Liberation Front (FLQ), a small underground group that wants the French-speaking province to secede from Canada. A night watchman at an army recruiting station was killed, April 29 and an army explosives expert was maimed May 17.

Two founders of the FLQ, Gabriel Hudon, 21, a draftsman, and Raymond Villeneuve, 20, a student, were sentenced to 12 years each Monday for manslaughter.

House Okays Defense Agency Money Bill Of Over $47 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP)—A compromise $47,220,010,000 Defense Department appropriation bill was passed by the House today and sent to the Senate.

Its total was $1,794,227,000 less than President Kennedy had requested, $119,697,000 less than the Senate approved and $138,001,000 more than the House voted earlier.

Included was $73.1 million for development of a medium range ballistic missile that could be launched from railroad cars, trucks or ships.

The bill does not include funds to finance military pay raises Soviets were not disclosed. There were indications that a U.S. loan would not be involved except perhaps very short term credit common in commercial transactions.

State Inspectors Hunt for Possible Tainted Whitefish

MADISON (AP)—State Department of Agriculture inspectors began a search of Wisconsin stores today to determine if stocks contain a type of smoked whitefish reportedly responsible for deaths in Michigan and Tennessee.

John McClellan, supervisor of food inspection for the dairy and food trade division, said inspectors began their work in the Milwaukee and Madison areas and that others would be covering the state.

McClellan said that so far he had received no reports of the product being on sale but noted that at least three chain outlets in the state have taken steps to remove the food if it is available.

Wisconsin has no prohibition against the sale of vacuum packaged fish, but McClellan noted that state law gives the department authority to seize any food if there is reason to believe it might be dangerous.

107 Buddhists Freed In Viet Nam, Diem Says

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — President Ngo Dinh Diem's government announced today that 107 Buddhist monks and followers arrested in the government crackdown last August were released Monday.

They had been detained nearly seven weeks, since troops and riot police stormed pagodas Aug. 21 and arrested Buddhist leaders and followers throughout the country.

The announcement did not say how many Buddhists were still held. More than 2,000 were reported arrested in August.

Decision on American Wheat Sales to Soviets May Come Wednesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agreement was reported near today for a sale of some $250 million worth of U.S. wheat to the Soviet Union.

It was understood that President Kennedy may make an announcement Wednesday afternoon.

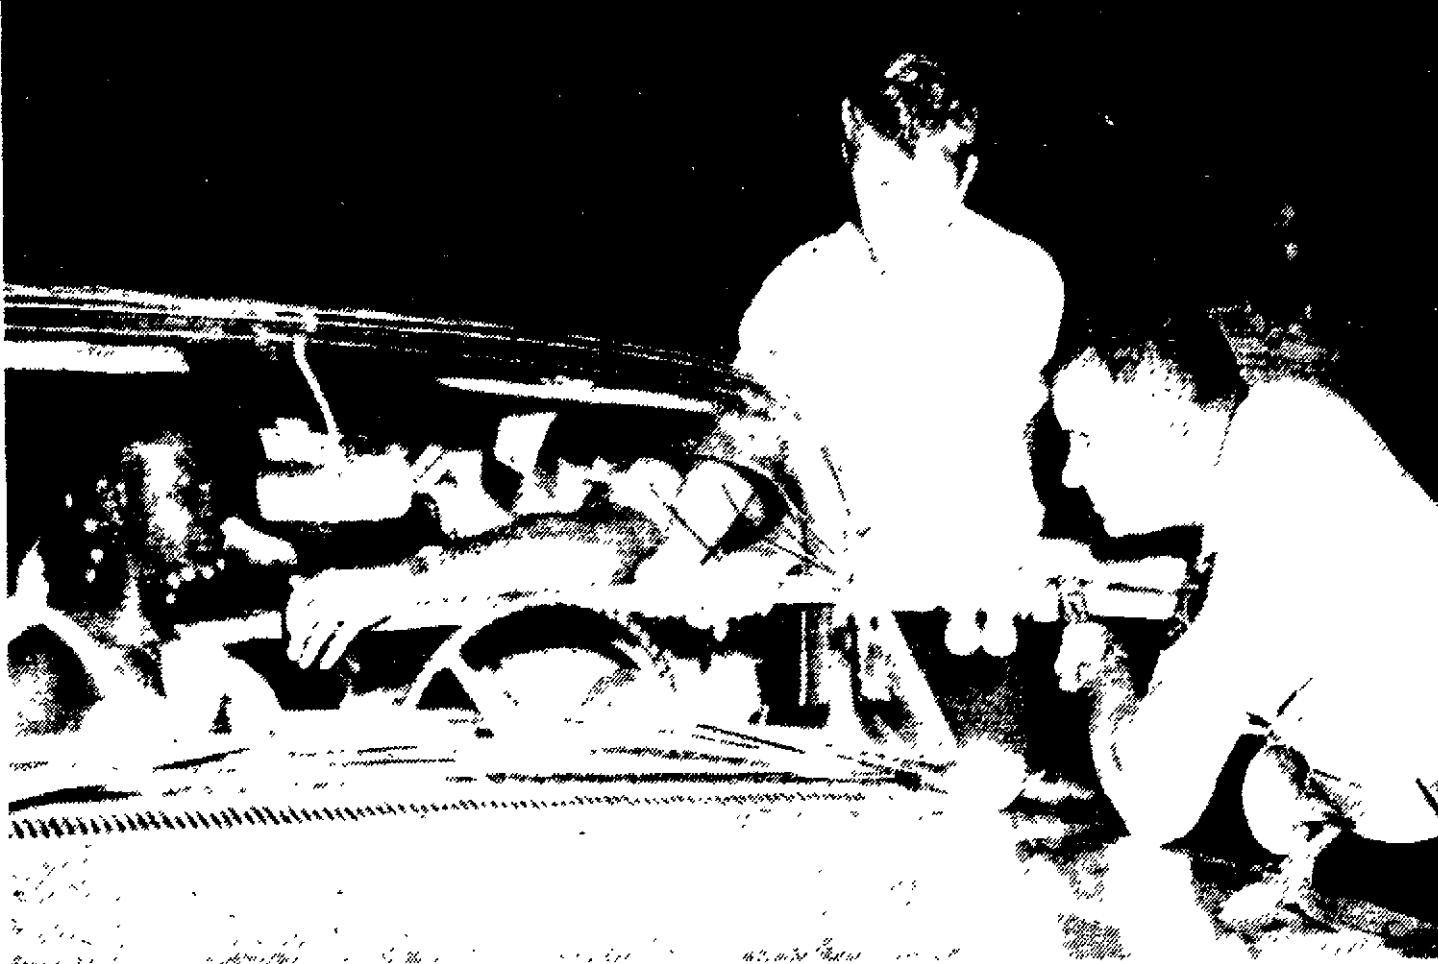

The Kennedy administration has been holding up a decision on whether to approve a wheat sale pending a sounding of Congressional sentiment and inquiries as to how firm the Russian offer is.

The Soviets were said to have confirmed through diplomatic channels the interests Russian buyers have shown in trade circles in buying the grain.

The exact terms offered by the Soviets were not disclosed. There were indications that a U.S. loan would not be involved except perhaps very short term credit common in commercial transactions.

AAUW About to Disperse Many Marvels of the Book World

Boy Scouts of Troop 12, Franklin School, volunteered their services to move the books into the Lawrence Chapel for the AAUW's annual sale. Above, only the eyes of Todd Yertes and Dan Newstrom are visible over the stacks they carry.

Each of Hundreds of books is carefully looked over, dusted and priced before being arranged by category for sale. At left, Debby Brownell, Kathy Newstrom and Van Newstrom do their part. Above, committee members Mrs. Arthur Lathrop, Mrs. E. B. Brownell and Mrs. Carroll Newstrom add their labors to the task. At right, as the room will appear when the first customers arrive Thursday, in the basement of the Lawrence Memorial Chapel.

The Fox Cities' annual courtship with the printed word will take place this week when readers of all ages flock to the Lawrence Memorial Chapel Basement for the annual AAUW Book Sale. The affair will begin at 9 a.m. Thursday and continue until Saturday noon.

The project goes back to 1936, when the organization initiated a yearly scholarship to a girl attending Lawrence College. This year's recipient is Miss Carol Bellinghausen, daughter of Mrs. Arthur Bellinghausen, 225 N. Meade St., and the late Mr. Bellinghausen. A junior, Miss Bellinghausen also won the scholarship in her freshman year. She is a high honors scholar majoring in history.

to philosophy. They have been gathered, dusted and marked with prices that will assure their quick sale, and the continuation of the purpose for which they were written—to be read. The sale has become a highlight of the fall season, with book lovers coming from throughout the area to add to their libraries or their winter's reading pleasure. It is also part of the AAUW Fellowships Endowment Fund. Mrs. Carroll Newstrom is chairman of this year's program.

MAN NEEDS MORE COURAGE

Dear Louise: I am a twenty-year-old man. I don't seem to get up the nerve to refuse invitations from a certain girl. How can I get rid of her without offending her or being rude? I think I am falling for somebody else.

Louise Davis Answers: If you can't get up the nerve to say no the next time, try being a bore and at the same time a gentleman. However, it would be only fair to the girl and to yourself to decline these invitations if you don't wish to further the friendship. This can be done diplomatically. You can always be "sorry but I have another engagement for that evening." If the girl tries to pin you down for a date in the future, you might say, "I can't very well commit myself this far in advance as I may have to go out of the city," then wind off with some comment such as, "I may give you a ring when I am sure of my schedule." Such vague remarks can often be strong hints.

that in a death notice, it is not correct to state in the ad that the deceased was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Smith but that only his widow and children should be mentioned. Is this correct?

Garden Club Members Hear Of Programs in Conservation

The influence of women in promoting conservation was recognized Monday as the annual Conservation Day Program of the Fox River Valley District of the Wisconsin Garden Club Federation. In acknowledging their conservation efforts, the women representatives of Garden Clubs throughout the area about present conservation programs, problems of the future and how they and their families are affected.

Stressed by all meeting speakers was the multiple use plan for forests. Multiple use involves a balance one that will serve as lumbering, recreation, such as hunting and camping and preservation of wild life and continued programs of reforestation.

Permitting old forests to stand will not help the wildlife population in the public mind. Talk of increased uses of wood in the future, the need for more wilderness area, the preservation of hunting and recreation areas and rumors of slaughter of the forests are being used to inform the public of what is true and what solutions to problems might be. He believes that the establishment of a balance one that will serve as many needs as possible, is necessary.

Presbyterian Circles List Week's Meeting

"Obedient Steward" was the theme of the United Presbyterian Women of the Winnebago Presbyterian District meeting Thursday at Memorial Presbyterian Church. Mrs. James Vosper, registration chairman, welcomed representatives from churches in Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Manitowoc, Melnik, Kimberly, Neenah, Oshkosh, Winnebago, Wild Rose, Stevens Point, Green Bay, Grace, Presbyterian, Green Bay, First, Presbyterian, Appleton, and De Pere. Mrs. Edward Mielke was chairman of the 9 a.m. coffee hour.

The day's program began with a call to worship by Mrs. G. J. Zanolli, Presbyterian president, who also issued the call to the meeting. Announcements and introductions were made by Mrs. Elbert Norton, Appleton president of the Presbyterian Guild.

Workshops Held

Morning workshops were headed by Mrs. Zanolli and Mrs. Willard Sheldon, administration. Mrs. Lee Duncan and Mrs. J. W. Pearson, circles, Mrs. Leland Rubesh, program, Mrs. George Younkun, fellowship, and Mrs. W. H. Dreher, World Service.

After a noon luncheon, at which Mrs. Carl Schroeder was chairman, the women divided into work groups. The Yearbook of Prayer report was given by Mrs. Douglas Oyan, who told of the daily devotional guide which lists all the mission areas and fraternal workers of the church and remembers certain ones in prayer throughout the calendar year. Mrs. Younkun had charge of the dedication of the Fellowship of Least Concern, a world-wide fellowship through which Christian women contribute the least coin of the country once a month, to be used in needed areas to promote Christianity.

Mrs. Sheldon presented the National Meeting composed of representatives of every organization of United Presbyterian Women throughout the world, and invited guests held every three years. The next will be in June 1964, at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind. About 5,000 women are expected to attend.

Speaks on Mission

Mrs. Leilyn Cox, Wausau, was the afternoon speaker, talking on "The Church in Mission."

The Rev. Clifford Pierson of the Memorial Presbyterian Church gave the morning invocation and closing benediction. Mrs. Paul Truttschel was organist and Mrs. Winton Schumaker provided the afternoon hymn.

Lock Car Doors to Prevent Unwelcome Intruders Entrance

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Last night I had the worst experience of my life. It could have cost me my job, my reputation and my family. Please print this letter for other young men who find themselves in the same spot.

I attended a meeting in a downtown building and parked my car on a side street. When I returned to the car I found a good-looking young woman sitting in it. She was dead drunk and I ordered her to get out. Her answer was, "If you don't drive me home I'll scream that you attacked me and let's see you get out of THAT one." I decided to drive her home.

When we reached her house I had to help her out of the car. Her father met us at the door and wanted to know who I was. I didn't give my name but I explained what had happened. He said his daughter had pulled this stunt before and that she had been having emotional problems. Cat the minute I got home I told my wife and she said I should have brought the girl to my place. My father said I did the right thing. Did I? How can a person best protect himself in such a situation?—Victimized

Dear Vic: Your first mistake was leaving your car unlocked. Last night it was an intoxicated young girl. Tonight it could be an intoxicated young man—crouched on the floor with a monkey wrench in his hand.

Your second mistake was getting into the car. The moment you saw someone sitting there you should have gone for a policeman.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I realize imitation is the highest form of flattery but I'm sick of being copied.

Recently we built a beautiful home—something we had planned for years. Builders have stopped to ask us where we bought our brick. Friends have copied our landscaping ideas, which were original. The latest incident is just too much. The most distinctive feature of our new home is the windows. There are no windows like ours in this city.

Now a family we barely know is building two doors away and they are in the process of putting in windows exactly like ours. I am furious. What can we do to Put yourself in the East seat in today's hand. You win the first trick with the ace of hearts. What next?

When the hand was played in a recent par contest, most defenders made the correct switch to clubs. Some of them led the ace of clubs and blew the defense sky high then and there. Some of the others led a low club, giving West a trick with the jack. When West continued with the king of clubs, our Eastern heroes played low. There again the defense flubbed it.

Makes Contract

South makes the contract unless the defenders take three club tricks on the run. Against any other defense South can draw three rounds of trumps and run dummy's diamonds to get rid of a club and a heart.

Of course you saw all this when you put yourself in the East seat. You saw that you needed four tricks to defeat the contract and that three of them had to come from the club suit.

The only chance is that South has three clubs and that West has the doubleton king. (Or that West has the doubleton queen, with a misguess by South on the first round of clubs.)

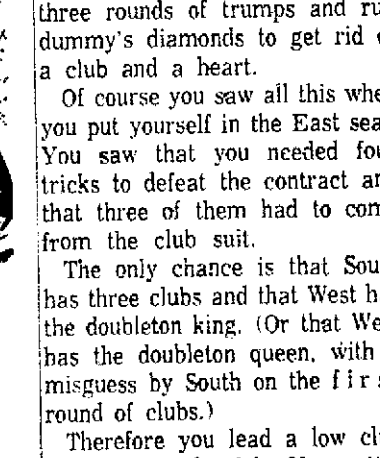

Therefore you lead a low club at the second trick. No matter which club West returns, you must overtake with the ace of clubs.

Easy, wasn't it?

Dr. Koffka Speaker in Lecture Series

The second speaker in the Episcopal Church Lecture Series will be Dr. Elisabeth Koffka, professor of history at Lawrence College. Her topic for Thursday will be the "Current Crisis Within the Context of History."

After 30 years on the faculty of Smith College, Dr. Koffka came to Lawrence College in 1961.

Five of Mrs. Koffka's years on the Smith faculty were spent away from the campus directing the college's junior year in Geneva, Switzerland. She guided the first group of American students allowed into Germany after World War II.

In the summer she travels to Kitzbuhel, Austria, where she writes German poetry for eight weeks. Since arriving at Lawrence, Mrs. Koffka has twice been a visiting lecturer at the University of Rochester, Rochester, N. Y.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter from 14-year-old Bennie caught my eye. He was the kid who wanted to quit taking piano lessons and was mad at you because you advised his ma to make him keep at it.

When I was little my ma started me on piano lessons. Like Bennie, I didn't want to practice either. Unfortunately ma let me win the battle and I gave up before I got started.

Now I'm 18 years old and I'm still giving up before I get started. I daydream a lot. When I don't want to do something I put it off until tomorrow. When tomorrow comes I don't do it.

I realize now the importance of self-discipline. I'm trying to do better but it makes me mad to think how much easier it would have been if perseverance had been drilled into me when I was a little kid.—The Blob

Dear Blob: Thanks for strengthening my point. I'm glad you were able to finish this letter and mail it! You're doing better already.

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for Ann Landers booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Race Problems Discussed at Church Meeting

Assemblyman Talks On State Civil Rights Legislation

A family emergency prevented Marion Downs, a nationally-known singer, from making an appearance at a race problems discussion Monday night at the First Methodist Church, Appleton.

However, there was no lack of speakers on the subject of civil rights.

Discussions were given by Assemblyman Harold Froehlich, Appleton Republican, the Revs. David Owen, Sheboygan Falls, and Marvin Schilling, Appleton.

Rev. Owen read excerpts from the writings of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, nationally-known advocate of Negro civil rights.

Dramatic Skit

Next, with the help of four people, Rev. Owen conducted a dramatic skit to show conflicts faced by the Christian in dealing with racial problems.

Froehlich discussed "Civil Rights Legislation in Wisconsin." He outlined bills recently considered in the state's Assembly and Senate.

He warned against "discrimination against discrimination," as an inconsistency within a democracy in protecting the rights of others.

Froehlich said that legislation to solve racial problems must begin at local levels before they can be carried to a higher law-making level.

Rev. Owen, using a flip-chart, summarized the pursuits and main characteristics of various national groups working for civil rights. He discussed conservative groups, such as the Urban League, and the more radicals elements, including the Black Muslims.

A discussion on what can be done locally by Rev. Schilling concluded the meeting.

Bishop Lichtenberger, Oshkosh Native, Ill With Phlebitis

NEW YORK (AP)—The presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church, the Rt. Rev. Arthur Lichtenberger, a native of Oshkosh, Wis., has been hospitalized for treatment of phlebitis.

A church spokesman said the phlebitis, an inflammation of the leg veins, developed as a late complication to a hernia operation which the bishop underwent in August.

Bishop Lichtenberger, 63 was reported Monday to be making satisfactory progress toward recovery.

Last March, the bishop announced he was suffering from Parkinson's disease and would have cut down on his speaking schedule. His present illness is not connected with the attack of phlebitis, the spokesman said.

'Piggy-Back to Costa Rica' Hurdles Another Roadblock

Weyauwega Durocs Will Leave Mitchell Field 7:30 Tonight

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Red tape began to tangle again Monday, and it looked doubtful whether Gilbert Rojas, a Costa Rican youth, would receive his two Duroc hogs on schedule.

A schedule had been arranged for the two 50 pound hogs to leave, Billy Mitchell Field, Milwaukee, for Miami, Fla., at 10:50 a. m. Wednesday. When confirmation of flights was checked, it was learned things were not going as smoothly as they should be. Another delay was drastically close.

Rojas, 20, who lives in Palmares, Alajuela, Costa Rica, visited the United States last year and expressed his desire to have two purebred hogs with which to start a herd of his own. Returning from his $60 a month job to purchase the hogs. He has been waiting since July 24 when they were originally scheduled to leave Milwaukee by air.

First Attempt

In this first attempt to ship the hogs, Walter Kaminski, a Weyauwega farmer who donated the purebred porkers to Rojas, and Joe Walker, Waupaca County farm agent, ran into so much red tape they had to abandon their plan.

The complete story on whether Gilbert Rojas, a Costa Rican youth, would receive his two Duroc hogs on schedule, Costa Rica appeared in last Sunday's Post-Crescent.

John Sawall, a Post-Crescent regional reporter, was to accompany the porkers. He went to Milwaukee Monday to check arrangements. Arriving at Mitchell Field, the cloud of red tape began to descend. Inquiring at the airline reservation desk about his own reservations, everything appeared to be fine. But, when he explained, briefly about the purpose of the trip and asked if the hogs would travel on the same flight, the ticket clerk got a puzzled look on his face and said, "I don't think we can carry hogs on that flight, but I'll check."

More Confusion

After a hurried phone call to the airlines freight office, things became more confused. Sawall sent to the freight department to tell his story again and find out if they knew anything about the two hogs going to Costa Rica.

All he got was another puzzled look and was sent to the Air Express office where he was confronted with the same puzzled look and the disheartening answer, "what two hogs?"

Phone Calls

Time came for Sawall to seek help and a round of phone calls followed between Milwaukee and Appleton. Roy Valitcka, regional editor, was able to contact Walker who had made the arrangements for the flight and found out the name of the air express agent he spoke to when he went to Milwaukee Sept. 19.

It was the agent's day off Monday. Finally located at his home, he confirmed arrangements made with Walker, but said he did not know that the pigs would not be able to leave on the Wednesday morning passenger flight.

Now came the job of finding a flight the hogs could travel on.

Continue Hunt For Appleton Knife Waver

An extensive manhunt for Ronald Pahlke, 26, 705 N. Appleton St., who allegedly threatened patrons of a southside tavern and his wife with a switchblade knife late Saturday night is being continued today by Appleton police.

It is believed Pahlke is still in the Appleton area and that he is suffering from injuries to his arm received when he pushed his fist through a car window Saturday night.

Detectives said an apprehension request from Pahlke's probation officer, Steve Langlois, has been issued. Police have been warned that Pahlke may be dangerous and may still have the knife he used Saturday night.

Police were called Saturday to Heinie's Tavern, 148 S. Walter St., after Pahlke allegedly pulled his knife and waved it at his wife and the tavern patrons. Taken into custody, Pahlke was being led toward a squad car when he bolted and ran from police. He lost his pursuers in Telulah Park.

Police have been to Pahlke's apartment several times over the weekend and indications were that Pahlke did not return there.

Area Palsy Drive Ends, Goal Is Met

GREEN BAY — J. W. Glaeser, Appleton, has announced the close of the current campaign for United Cerebral Palsy of Northeastern Wisconsin.

Chairman of the campaign, Glaeser said "It appears that we have met our goal and may even exceed it."

He emphasized that the tabulations were not complete and that volunteers should turn in their reports by passing motorists. Two kits so a complete financial report can be made.

Glaeser expressed appreciation for the whole-hearted generous support of the community and the handicapped to thank all our neighbors."

Forger Enters Guilty Plea in County Court

Parolee Says He Could Pass $1,000 in Worthless Checks in Only 15 Minutes

An Iron Mountain, Mich., man recognize Parent as the account, who told County Judge Gustave Keller that Appleton was an easy place to pass worthless or forged checks, pleaded guilty Monday to three counts of check forgery.

Kenneth Parent, 41, claimed that it would be possible to walk the length of College Avenue and pocket almost $1,000 in money obtained from passing worthless or forged checks among the merchants.

Judge Keller ordered a pre-sentence investigation and continued sentencing until Oct. 21. Parent is being held in the Outagamie County jail without bond.

Pleads Guilty

Parent pleaded guilty of passing checks on Sept. 9, Sept. 20 and Sept. 25 for a total of $325. Two of the checks were passed in Appleton and one was passed at a Little Chute store.

Parent admitted he passed six other checks in Appleton and Little Chute and attempted to pass two others. Total amount of all checks passed was $385. He said all the checks were passed in the last two weeks.

Among the checks which Parent admitted passing was one on which it was impossible to read or distinguish two signatures appearing on the check. Parent said he passed that check for $75 when he was drunk.

Sample Check

On one other check, the words "Specimen Void" had been crossed out and the check for $75 was passed. The check was drawn on a Memphis, Tenn., bank. Police said the check was the type used by salesmen as samples shown to banks.

On one occasion, Parent said he went to a southside store and attempted to pass a check, but the store manager refused. Parent said he was drunk at the time.

Detectives testified that Parent said he could walk along College Avenue and pass $1,000 in checks "in 15 minutes." Parent also told the court it was "not hard" to obtain checks in Appleton. He went to one Appleton bank and asked for a pad of 10 blank checks drawn on another person's account. The bank officer did not

Teamsters' Requests Would Cost Appleton $50,000 Annually

The opening round of 1963 collective bargaining between the City of Appleton and Teamsters Local 536 got underway Monday night with the union submitting wage and fringe benefit requests estimated to cost $50,000 in 1964.

The two-hour session in city hall between Robert Schlieve, business representative for an estimated 100 unionized city employees, and members of the common council's personnel committee, was a harmonious one.

Further negotiating is scheduled in keeping with the Wisconsin Municipal Employee Act, which sets forth ground rules for collective bargaining between municipalities and unions.

Separate Meeting

While members of the park board and a few other aldermen attended the meeting, it was disclosed the union will meet separately with the board to bargain for a contract for unionized park employees.

Local 536 also represents nearly 100 workers in the street-sanitation division and sewage disposal plant.

The union's major demand is a 15 cent an hour across-the-board pay increase which would add up to an estimated $30,000. Several job reclassifications are included, along with merit increases, adding another $13,000 to the package.

"Not Unreasonable"

"This is not an unreasonable request," Schlieve commented when submitting the wage proposal. He urged the city to eliminate alleged merit inequities in the present pay scale, and criticized the present six-month probationary period for new employees as being too long.

Public Works Director Robert W. Bues explained that under the union's wage proposal, the lowest paid man in the street-sanitation division would get a 7 per cent raise. Last year the city's hourly paid employees received a pay increase of 5 cents per hour.

While the city's bargaining team was non-committal on the proposed pay hikes, there did seem to be agreement between the parties that the union's request for additional compensation for employees called out on emergencies was a reasonable one.

Emergency Pay

Local 536 is asking that when an employee is called out on an emergency, such as snow and ice control during the winter, he be entitled to two hours at his regular rate of pay in addition to pay for actual hours worked.

"Right now these men are receiving nothing extra for the inconvenience of being called out during the night," Schlieve said.

Ald. Kenneth Loos (3rd), chairman of the council's street-sanitation committee, said it was "a reasonable request" and supported it.

Another union request would make employees eligible for holiday pay on the afternoon of the day before Christmas, providing it is a regular work day. Those who do not work would be paid for their regular afternoon scheduled hours, while those who did

Ambulance Called

Larry's Ambulance Service was called and took the still-conscious woman to the hospital where she is being treated for her injury.

Police theorize the woman awoke Monday morning early and went toward the front door to take the milk and morning paper man of the council's street-sanitation committee, said it was "a reasonable request" and supported it.

A relative estimated she may have been lying there as long as 12 hours.

Police said one light was on in the house when they arrived and this light is customarily kept on who do not work would be paid for their regular afternoon scheduled hours, while those who did

School Board, Architect Set Oct. 28 for Project Meeting

Inspection of Addition Made Before Approval

NEENAH — The Neenah board of education set Oct. 28 to go over the punch list of items at the $1,695,000 Neenah High School building and remodeling project with architect Fred Kramer of Peckins and Will, Chicago. A tour of the new facility will be made room by room, and if members of the board find everything in order they will formally accept the high school building.

It was pointed out by Earl Brien, supervisor of school properties, that a guarantee of one year on material and construction is in effect from the date of the formal acceptance of the building by the board.

Some concern was expressed by members of the board that the music practice rooms will require a general acoustical treatment. It was generally agreed that this area would have to be corrected, according to specifications, before the building will be accepted.

Painting Bids
Bids for painting the Neenah High School auditorium will be opened at 9 a.m. Monday in the administrative offices and at 4:15 p.m. Monday the board of education will meet to review the tabulations and award the contract. Bid calls for work to begin at once and completion of the auditorium within 30 days.

H. O. Borgen, principal of Neenah High School, presented the matter of using paper caps and gowns which have been rented through the years. After considering the advantages and disadvantages of paper, the board decided that this is a matter which the members of the Class of 1964 should decide for themselves.

Paper Gowns
John Maday, a representative of E. R. Moore Co., which has furnished gowns at Neenah High School for a number of years, will show the paper models to class officers and members of the executive board of the senior class Thursday morning.

Of primary interest in the matter of using paper gowns is the fact that Neenah is the heart of did point out that there are the paper industry. ## Public Works Hiring Procedure Is Defended

No Work Rule Complaints Since Bues Became Appleton Director, Schlieve Says

The Appleton Common Council's director, Edwin Duszynski, now personnel committee and Public public works director for the City Works Director Robert W. Bues, of Madison.

Monday night defended the city's job hiring procedure in the department of public works.

During negotiations on a 1964 contract with the city, Robert Schlieve said this was proper and that the men ranking highest got the jobs.

Schlieve countered that while some of the present city employees may not have passed tests, they were still exceptionally skilled in their line of work.

Specific Incident Asked
At one point Schlieve was asked to list a specific incident in which a city employee was overlooked when a vacancy was being filled.

He named the case of one employee who indicated interest in the promotion.

Bues then explained he had discussed the job opening with the employee, made an appointment to interview him, and asked the man to fill out an application blank for the job.

"The man merely put his name, address and telephone number on the application and nothing else," Bues said. He explained the form also asked questions of the employee concerning previous work experience.

"Man Never Showed Up"
Bues told the committee the man "never showed up after making the appointment." He also said the man refused to take the test which had been prepared by the Vocational School and was taken by other applicants for the position.

Schlieve said if a department head wanted to get information about an employee's past experience and performance record, he should look at city personnel records. "I presume you keep cards," he added.

With reference to work rules, Schlieve commented, "We have had no complaints since Mr. Bues has been here."

2 Injured as Test Drive Ends in Crash

Two men were injured when they were pitched from a car they were test driving Monday on S. Memorial Drive after the car veered off the road and struck a tree and signpost. They were taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital by Larry's Ambulance Service.

In satisfactory condition were the driver James F. Smith, 22, route 1, Appleton, and his passenger, George A. Smith, 32, 416 E. Circle St.

Appleton police said the car had been recently repaired by the two and was being road tested. The car was headed south when it struck a tree in the boulevard.

New Officers for the Appleton Society of Certified Public Accountants were installed Thursday night at a meeting at Alex's Manor House. ARE LANGUAGES EASILY LEARNED?
YES ☐ NO ☐

No. It is not hard for anyone gifted to learn enough about a language to be able to order food, make purchases and find out how to get places. But when it comes to a communication of his feelings, he may face an entirely different problem. Even those who use the same language often misunderstand us. How much more difficult it is for foreigners. Professor Alfred Sheurtz has said that you never really know a language until you could write love letters in it.

Appleton Urged To Decide on Alarm System

Architect George Narovec has urged the common council to make a decision soon on the type of alarm system to be installed in the proposed new Appleton Fire Department headquarters station.

City officials for several months have been pondering whether to install a Gamewell Co. or a Wisconsin Telephone Co. system. The former would be purchased, the latter leased.

It is expected aldermen will hold a committee of the whole meeting in the near future to make a final determination.

Originally, it was hoped the city could advertise for bids and award contracts for construction of the station on city-owned property at Atlantic and Drew Streets this fall. The timetable calls for the building to be completed in the spring of 1964.

Cost of the structure has been estimated between $250,000 to $300,000.

Narovec has informed city officials that before construction plans can be completed they must make a choice of alarm systems.

Hank Aaron of Braves Named To 'Star' Squad

Outfielder Ranks Second to Koufax In Vote Total

NEW YORK (AP)—Seven National Leaguers, including World Series star Sandy Koufax, and three American League players were named today to the Associated Press Major League All-Star baseball team for 1963.

Koufax, who posted a 25-5 season record and collected two victories in the Dodgers' sweep of the New York Yankees, was the only member of the world champions selected in a vote of 71 baseball writers.

Koufax topped the balloting with 68 votes. The other National Leaguers selected were first baseman Bill White, shortstop Dick Groat and third baseman Ken Boyer, all of the St. Louis Cardinals; outfielders Willie Mays of San Francisco and Hank Aaron of Milwaukee and right-handed pitcher Juan Marichal of San Francisco.

Outfielder Al Kaline of Detroit and second baseman Bobby Richardson and catcher Elston Howard of the Yankees represented the American League on the No. 1 team.

Second Team

The National League also dominated the second team, placing second baseman Jim Gilliam, shortstop Maury Wills and outfielder Tommy Davis of the Dodgers third baseman Ron Santo, Chicago Cubs, outfielder Vada Pinson, Cincinnati left-handed pitcher Warren Spahn of Milwaukee and right-handed pitcher Jim Maloney, Cincinnati. First baseman Dick Stuart and outfielder Carl Yastrzemski, Boston, and catcher Earl Battey, Minnesota were the American Leaguers on the second team.

Aaron, who shared the NL home run crown with San Francisco's Willie McCovey at 44 and captured the RBI title with 130, was runner up to Koufax in the balloting with 67 votes. He was followed by Groat with 65, Howard 63 and Mays, 55.

The only other lefty pitchers besides Koufax to receive votes were Spahn, 2, and the Yankees' Whitey Ford, 1.

The voting, first three in each position: First base, White, Cards, 51; Stuart, Red Sox, 10; Cepeda, Giants, 6. Second base — Richardson, Yanks, 45; Gilliam, Dodgers, 10; Javer, Cards, 9. Third base — Boyer, Cards, 47; Santo, Cubs, 9; Matzone, Red Sox, 6. Shortstop — Groat, Cards, 65; Wills, Dodgers, 4; Aparicio, Orioles, 2. Outfielders — H. Aaron, Braves, 67; Mays, Giants, 55; Kaline, Tigers, 49; Yastrzemski, Red Sox, 17; T. Davis, Dodgers, 12; Pinson, Reds, 5. Catchers — Howard, Yankees, 63; Battey, Twins, 8. Left-handed pitchers — Koufax, Dodgers, 68; Spahn, Braves, 2; Ford, Yanks, 1. Right-handed pitchers — Marichal, Giants, 36; Maloney, Reds, 12; Boulton, Yanks, 9.

No Standing Pat

Bavasi Would Like a Couple of Pitchers for Champion Dodgers

BY CHARLES MAHER

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Having just won the National League pennant by six games and the World Series by four, the Los Angeles Dodgers don't figure to rival the New York Stock Exchange in trading volume this winter.

"But we're not going to stand pat either," said General Manager Buzzie Bavasi.

Curiously, the first thing Bavasi wants to import is more pitching. It's like getting an appeal for wheat from Kansas. The Dodgers pitching staff had an earned-run average of 2.85, the best in the major leagues this year and the best in the National League in 19 years.

But Bavasi would still like to come by another right-handed starting pitcher and another left-handed relief pitcher.

"You can always use another pitcher," he said. "We have some in the organization, but they may be a little young."

Good Chance

There's a good chance the Dodger roster will change this month. The first eight teams in the National League are putting four players each in a pool set up to help the indigent New York Mets and Houston Colts.

It's not official but the Dodgers are expected to offer infielder Marv Breeding, outfielder-infielder Lee Walls, relief pitcher Ken Rowe and first baseman Bill Haas.

Haas was in the Dodgers' farm system all season but counted against their 25-man roster under the new first-year player rule.

The Dodgers could give up all four of the "pool players" or none, depending on how many they want to part with and how many the Colts and Mets want to buy. The Dodgers are obligated to sell only one player, for $30,000, and the Mets and Colts are obligated to buy none. But all four could go for the same price if the Dodgers want to sell and the others want to buy.

There had been speculation relief pitcher Larry Sherry would be placed in the pool. But the guess is that the Dodgers think they could make a better deal in a trade.

Bill Skowron also looked like a trade prospect before the World Series, but he hit .285 in the Series and Bavasi said he was unimpressed.

"I love it here and I love the Dodgers," Skowron said after the last Series game Sunday. "I don't want to leave."

Utility infielder Dick Tracewski also strengthened his position in the World Series, playing all four games at second base. He got a chance to start after third baseman Ken McMullen pulled a leg muscle and Jim Gilliam had to be shifted from second to third.

Trade for Alternate

The only reservation about Tracewski is that he has been unable to hit good right-handed pitching. The Dodgers may try to trade for a left-handed hitting second baseman who could alternate with Tracewski.

Bavasi said the Dodgers should be a contender in the National League "for as far ahead as we can see."

"But I don't think there's much chance any club is going to set up a dynasty in this league," he said. "We don't even know we're going to win next year."

Bavasi said he would count on ly two clubs, New York and Houston, out of the running in 1964. He said St. Louis, San Francisco, Philadelphia and Milwaukee figured to give the Dodgers the most trouble.

Bavasi said it will be up to Manager Walter Alton to decide whether Leo Durocher remains on the coaching staff. Alton probably won't be signed formally until the winter baseball meetings and probably won't say anything about next year's coaching staff before then.

Durocher was accused of second-guessing Alton last season. He denied it and was rehired, apparently with Alton's consent.

Vince Thinks Present Team Is Better Than Last Year's

Cites Big Improvement in Other NFL Clubs

GREEN BAY (AP)—A year ago the Green Bay Packers won 14 of 15 games in winning the National Football League championship. Now coach Vince Lombardi thinks he has an even better team despite a 3-1 record.

"Personally, I think I have a better overall team than I've ever had here," Lombardi said Monday as he reviewed his charges' 42-10 rout of the Los Angeles Rams.

"But then every team we've played has improved tremendously," he added. "I guess that kind of evens it up."

Lombardi, who took over a league doormat and built an awesome power in 1959, predicted before the start of the season that a 10-4 record would be good enough to win the Western Division crown. He still feels the same way.

Bears Look Tough

"I think we have a good chance," he said. "The Bears look tough, the Lions still are in it. And how many games have the Vikings lost? Two? Well, they're in it, too."

"Each game makes the season that much shorter. Next week teams may start spreading out—maybe."

After an opening 10-3 loss to the Chicago Bears, the Packers, the Baltimore Colts and the Rams in seeking an unprecedented third straight NFL championship.

The victory over the Rams was

Their Performances May be Key Factor in AHS-Indian Tilt

Appleton's Gary Hietpas and Oshkosh's Myles Strasser are carrying on the tradition of outstanding fullbacks at their respective high schools.

How well each succeeds in penetrating the opposition's defense here Saturday will have much to do with the outcome of the Fox River Valley Conference's feature game of the week.

Almost without exception, Oshkosh Coach Harold Schumert builds his attack around a power-running fullback. And, he has found another this season in Strasser.

In recent years, the Indians have been led by such all-conference fullbacks as Larry Kopitz (1962), Dick Konrad ('59), Larry

Two Ram QBs Covered About 1 Mile Apiece

Bratkowski, Gabriel Made 62 Trips in Alternating System

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY—Tuesday Quarterback—it just occurred to us why we left City Stadium Sunday puffing like mad.

It was sort of a sympathy breeze for the Rams' two quarterbacks, Zeke Bratkowski and Roman Gabriel, who alternated on each play. And, brother, the Rams ran off 62 plays, rushes and passes.

This means that each quarterback made 62 trips. Each ran two ways—in and out—on each of his 31 plays.

So how far did each quarterback run, Einstein?

Assuming the kickoff point was the 50-yard line, let us divide each 50-yard half of the field into halves. Since half of 50 is 25, let us then in turn make the distance a diagonal straight line from the sideline 50 to the middle of the field 25. That's a distance of 25 yards.

Conservative Average

Sometimes, said QB ran less, to the 40 for instance, and other times to the 10. So perhaps 25 yards might be a good conservative average.

Sixty-two 25-yard trips measures out to 1,550 yards for each QB. . . . double that and it can

Bowman and Kurek Return to UW Drills

Badgers See Films of Purdue Win

MADISON (AP)—The Wisconsin football team was bolstered by the return of fullback Ralph Kurek and center Ken Bowman Monday as the Badgers worked against Purdue formations in preparation for Saturday's Big Ten opener.

Kurek and Bowman who suffered minor leg injuries in practice last week limited their activity. Sophomore reserve Tom Brigham, who ran 91 yards for a touchdown against Western Michigan, operated at Kurek's fullback post on the first team.

After the 90-minute drill the Badgers went indoors to view movies of Purdue's 7-6 victory over Notre Dame.

As a result of last week's open date the Badgers slipped from fourth to fifth in the Associated Press poll. Wisconsin is ranked behind Oklahoma, Texas, Alabama and Navy.

Light Workout

At Lafayette Ind., Purdue coach Jack Mollenkopf gave the Boilermakers only a light workout. He said that several players had bumps and bruises as a result of the Notre Dame game and "we'll have to take it comparatively easy to be in the best possible shape for the Badgers."

Purdue dropped a 30 decision to Miami in the season opener before rallying to defeat Notre Dame which was defeated 14-9 by Wisconsin.

"I don't think it's taking anything away from the Irish to say that Wisconsin is a better team than Notre Dame," Mollenkopf said. "It certainly will be our toughest game so far especially since Wisconsin had the day off Saturday for a nice rest."

Mollenkopf indicated that the Boilermakers would devote their time this week trying to improve the offense. Senior fullback Gene Donaldson, who has been bothered by a back ailment, was returned to the starting backfield.

Texas Loses Ernie Koy for Sooner Game

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

At the risk of being banned by the coaching fraternity, Darrell Royal of Texas refuses—outwardly at least—to latch onto the loss of his star punter as a means of forecasting doom in the game with No. 1 Oklahoma Saturday.

Instead, Royal said the teams were well-matched, indicating he figured the Longhorns had an even chance against the Sooners, whom they have beaten five straight years.

While Royal will lose his great kicker, Ernie Koy, who is out indefinitely from a shoulder injury that required an operation, he does have two top players back from the injury list—end Sandy Sands and tackle Ken Ferguson.

Alston Now Firmly Entrenched In the Dodger Organization

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A year ago they were hanging Walter Alston in effigy after Los Angeles had lost the playoffs to the Giants in baseball. The Dodgers' incredible four-to-one sweep of the regular season came World Series sweep of the display of Alston's slow but sizzling temper.

Today, the Dodger manager's prominence, with such flattering endearing captions as "We Want Walter" and "Alston, Manager of the Year" is hanging in department store windows on nearly every main street.

The quiet-spoken, self-effacing man who took so much abuse last year is added—and who was the verge of being fired early this year, today is as safely entrenched in the Dodger organization as the gold in Fort Knox.

He has earned the respect, not only of superiors and subordinates but of rival managers and players of maintaining an oriental calm that he does most of the time. But he can be stubborn, too, even ablest, if least gregarious, man-hellicose, on occasion.

The Dodgers' rise to first place this season can be traced to a display of Alston's slow but sizzling temper.

Yankees was just additional proof of maintaining an oriental calm that he does most of the time. But he can be stubborn, too, even ablest, if least gregarious, man-hellicose, on occasion.

Hietpas and Strasser Carry On Tradition

who played for the Green Bay Packers.

Appleton's Pete Bruese played with Portsmouth (now Detroit), of the National Football League. AHS' Emmett Morrell went on to compete for Wisconsin and the Philadelphia Eagles.

Former Terror John Ruach went on to play under Knute Rockne at Notre Dame. And AHS' Jim Hammond went on to captain the UW team. Larry Witzke starred for the Indiana Teachers.

Don Bodway, AHS's last all-state fullback, attended Indiana, but his career was cut short by an injury.

Other top Appleton fullbacks include Bill Tappert, Ted Bleier, Bill Brandt, Bob Bartman, Duane Bates, Tony Popp, Roman Wenzel, Clem Gerou, Tom Stoeger, Ray Brandt, Vern Bjerkvold and Jim Rickland.

Mike Ullwelling and Joe Eich played a lot of fullback for AHS' conference champions of 1956 and '57, respectively. Cal Klueess was the Terrors' most recent all-conference fullback (1953).

Marv Hietpas, brother of Gary, was an outstanding runner for the '60 Terrors.

Strasser, who didn't even come out for football until this, his senior year, will be remembered for his clutch play in the 1963 regional and sectional basketball tournaments.

Weights 202 Pounds

At 202 pounds, Strasser has close to a 25-pound weight edge on Hietpas. Gary, who was an all-FRVC choice on defense last year, has become a shiffter, harder runner on offense this year.

Strasser has carried the ball about 80 times in four games—despite missing more than half of the North game with a broken nose. He's had two "really big" days—135 yards against Manitowish, 133 yards against Madison. In addition, Stassen has scored all six of unbeaten Oshkosh's touchdowns in league play.

Hietpas has carried the ball less than 50 times, under AHS' diversified offense. His most productive game as a 136-yarder against Fond du Lac. The AHS co-captain has scored four touchdowns.

Dave Nagan's 624 Leads Business Loop

KAUKAUNA — Roger Leick triggered a 233 game, and Dave Nagan fired a 624 series to lead the Businessmen's League at the Bowling Bar.

Shermy's and Royal are tied for first with 9-5 marks. Other high scores were hit by Vic Dietrich, 572; Bob Johnson, 550; Sherman Rogers, 566; Elmer Vando Hey, 229, 609; Clayton Van Den Broek, 226, 552; Dave Nagan, 229; Roger Leick, 553; Mark Hoegh, 554, and Jack Conlon, 228, 609.

Gert Hennes rolled a 198 game and Betty Janssen a 551 series to top a women's league at the Bowling Bar.

Other honor counts were registered by Betty Janssen, 196, 192; Evelyn Pendleton, 503; Cecil Ashauer, 192, 197, 523; Pat Hooymann, 521; Eva Nagan, 518 and Lucille Schmidt, 192.

Senators Sign 1964 Working Agreement With Toronto Club

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Senators signed a 1964 working agreement today with Toronto of the International League, giving the Senators the Triple A farm club they lacked this past season.

At the end of the season, Peninsula of the Class A Carolina League dropped its agreement with Washington.

Other teams which will work with Washington again next year are Class A Wisconsin Rapids of the Midwest League and Geneva of the New York-Pennsylvania League and Class AA York of the Eastern League.

Nygren Booms 648 Aggregate

Chuck Bayer's 645 Set Leads Classic League

"Husky" Nygren spilled a 648 series to cop honors in the Tavern League at Hahn's Lanes.

Mike Court (592 series) and Nate Belling (580) each spanked 229 singletons.

Gil and Alma's (11-4) and Flat-eau are deadlocked for the league lead.

Other top scores in the circuit were Frank DeJong, 608; C. Mathison, 559; C. McGinnis, 225, 568; Ken Uhlenbrauch, 589; C. Ludwig, 591; B. Rutten, 575; T. Staedt, 556; D. Laux, 577; R. Crane, 567; Bud Jentz, 566; R. Hornes, 585; and W. Rueck, 553.

Phil Kurczewski had a 250 singleton, and Chuck Bayer hit a 645 series, including games of 231 and 228, in the 41 Classic League action at the 41 Bowl. Kurczewski finished with a 508.

Hahn's Lanes (18-2) leads the teams.

Ed Flood hit a 630 in the Grocers' League. Flood also hit 225 and 630 Classic counts.

John Wenning hit a 233 and a 626, and Herb Schwiltzer had a 596 set, Bob Nehls' 591, Herb Kramer's 593, Wally Moore's 584, Keith Gehring's 580, Don Brandenburg's 553, Don Schroeder's 552, Jack Burton's 562, Orme Stack's 551, Bernie Davis' 553, and Doug Schmuhl's 556, were the other honor scores.

Mike Dorow had a 234 and Stan Bethe hit a 588 in the Trinity Lutheran League at Hahn's Lanes. Bethe had a 225 game, and Dorow finished with a 581.

Wichmann's leads the teams by three games over Bytof and Hanson.

Jahnke's 588 Set Tops Darboy Loop

Roger Fahrenkrug slammed a 232 game and Floyd Jahnke hit a 588 series to pace the Darboy Bowling League at the Bowling Bar, Kaukauna.

Jahnke Oil leads with a 12 - 3 mark. Other high scores were hit by Fahrenkrug, 580, and Rich Dietzen, 585.

Sylvia Strick rolled a 520 series for the lone honor score in the Lucky Strike League at Jerry's Lanes, Kimberly.

Tempers Frayed

It was Sunday, May 6, and Los Angeles was wallowing in seventh place after losing a game at Forbes Field. Tempers were frayed and some of the players complained about the ancient vintage of the team bus that was taking them to the Pittsburgh station.

Seething with fury, Alston went to the bus driver and ordered him to pull over to the side of the highway and stop.

"Does anybody here want to take charge of the bus department?" Alston asked.

Since no one volunteered Alston decided he'd take it.

"I say this bus is good enough for us," he snapped. "If any of you don't think so, we'll step outside and discuss it."

"And that goes for all of you..."

The next day, after he's simmered down, Alston was asked if his statement actually had been a challenge to do physical combat.

"Now," he grinned. "I'm too old to fight."

Simple Tastes

A man of simple pleasures and tastes, Alston is never happier when he is home with his family in his beloved Dartmouth, Ohio, playing bridge with his wife, shooting pool with his friends or going hunting or fishing with his 20-year-old grandson.

"As soon as I get home," he told reporters following the Dodgers' final victory over the Yankees Sunday, "I'm going to take first of two meetings with my grandson, Robin Dean Ogilvie. The game squirrel hunting. Then I'm going to sit on a log. I'm going to sit there a good while."

Alston's other hobbies are sadly the efforts of middle linebacker Sam Huff — to slow down Brown working. He and his father built the home he and his wife, Lela, presently occupy in the winter.

Alston graduated from Miami, Ohio, University with a B.S. degree in education. He played basketball on the team sonally.

Later he taught biology and mechanical drawing in the high outside much more often than the schools of Madison and Lewiston did in the past," Giant Coach Al Sherman said. "That makes him even more dangerous than baseball player, he appeared in only one big league game with the Cardinals, and made only one appearance at bat. He struck out.

"Everybody seems to remember the strikeout," he once said in mock complaint, "but nobody remembers that the second strike was a long foul ball that missed the home run by a foot."

It's a big one. The winner will be favored to win the division tie. Cleveland, powered by Jimmy Brown and guided by Frank Ryan, has a 4-0 record. The Giants, defending Eastern champs, are 3-1, all on the road.

Sold Out For Weeks

The Giants, expected to be healthy for the first time this season, are slight favorites for this first of two meetings with the Browns this season. The game has been a sell-out for weeks.

The feature attracting will be the Giants' attempt — particularly the efforts of middle linebacker Sam Huff — to slow down Brown, time rushing leader and the league record holder, is off to his best start ever. The Giants will 'key' their defense on him and probably assign Huff to him guard on the basketball team sonally.

Houk Miffed At Reporter's Question

NEW YORK (AP) — Manager Ralph Houk of the New York Yankees told a reporter to "get the h--- away from me" when the Yankees arrived home in the early morning hours Monday from Los Angeles where they had lost the World Series to the Dodgers in an unprecedented four games.

Houk became miffed about a question regarding the performance of Bill Skowron, one of the stars of the series who had been traded to the Dodgers by the Yankees, and Joe Pepitone, Skowron's replacement at first base.

"It was Pepitone's error in the seventh inning that led to the Dodgers' winning run in their 2-1 victory Sunday."

Houk pointed out that Pepitone, with a 271 batting average and 89 runs batted in, had a better record last season than Skowron who had only 19 RBI and a .203 average.

When the reporter said he was a general assignment reporter out of action with injuries. He's not familiar with baseball returned to lead the Giants over Philadelphia and Washington the last two weeks.

New York will further be bolstered by the return of fullback Alex Webster, who has missed of three games with a back ailment, and I'm proud of the club."

"We won't know for sure if Alex will be 100 per cent," Sherman would not affect his morale. Pep said, "but he should certainly be ready to play."

a typical Packer triumph. Green Bay led 15-10 at halftime, then broke loose for 27 points. In their first four games, the Packers have scored 28 points in the first half and 79 after the intermission.

"This is by no means an alibi, but every one we've played has been keyed to emotional heights," Lombardi said. This explains the tough first halves we've experienced. Either they lose their emotion thereafter, or we knock it out of them."

Quarterback Bart Starr, who had his best day of the season with three touchdown passes, said things just started falling in place as the game progressed.

"Everyone displayed a fine effort against another highly aroused team," Starr said. "This is getting to sound like a broken record, but everyone wants a shot at us. It's a nice price to pay."

The Packers came out of the Los Angeles game without serious injury. Fullback Jimmy Taylor aggravated a groin muscle injury and guard Fuzzy Thurston broke a thigh, but both are expected to be ready next Sunday when the Packers launch a three-game road trip against the Minnesota Vikings.

be estimated that Bratkowski and Gabriel ran 3,100 yards for the purpose of coping with the Packer defense.

Once on the field of battle, Zeke and Roman had some other kind of running to do. They were thrown for losses totaling 37 yards by our eager beavers and, of course, they moved around a few yards on each handoff.

Thus, it is safe to assume that each quarterback ran about one mile, give or take a yard or two. So what does all this mean?

The Rams have the best conditioned quarterbacks in pro football!

And speaking about running and quarterbacks, Bart Starr got a big cheer from the audience Sunday when he ran up the middle for eight yards for a first down on the Packer 32 in the first quarter.

Bragan Scoffs at Talk That Dodgers Are Building Dynasty

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Manager Bobby Bragan of the Milwaukee Braves scoffs at talk that the Los Angeles Dodgers may be building a dynasty to rule the National League.

"A different club has won the pennant in our league the last six years," Bragan pointed out Monday after his return from the World Series.

"You've got to judge the future by the past," he added. "I don't look for the Dodgers to be any tougher than last season. Remember the St. Louis Cardinals battled them to the end and they don't need much to go all the way in 1964."

"The Reds are going to have to shake themselves, but they're going to be better. The Giants are going to come up with better pitching. The Phils already are tough. And all we need is more speed and another regular outfielder, plus a bench man of the Gus Bell type."

Bragan said he expects "an active trading market" this winter, especially by American League clubs after the New York Yankees four straight defeats by the Dodgers in the World Series.

In discussing the series, Bragan said that "the Yankees had the best collection of eight men you could assemble — other than the pitching staff."

"They couldn't cope with the Dodger pitching," he said. "Their hitters were so much on the defensive that it seemed all they were doing was trying to keep from striking out."

Texas, however, may have something to say about that. The Longhorns, unbeaten in three games and gunning for the national title they forfeited when tied by Rice last season, have taken over the No. 2 spot in the latest Associated Press poll and have a recent history of success against their favorite foes. The Longhorns have won the last five games in the old series.

Oklahoma was idle last week, after scoring victories over Clemson and defending national champion Southern California, but held on to the top spot in the poll without trouble, polling 40 first place votes in a total of 54 ballots cast by the AP's special selection board.

Texas, third a week ago, vaulted over Alabama and into the runner-up spot on the strength of a 34-7 romp over Oklahoma State.

Alabama also won its third straight, belting Vanderbilt 21-6. There were a number of other changes in the select list, with only No. 10 Mississippi staying in the same spot. Northwestern and Georgia Tech, fifth and seventh a week ago, dropped from the list and were replaced by Ohio State and Penn State.

The top ten, with first place votes in parentheses, season records, and total points on the 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

Team	Points
1 Oklahoma (40) 2-0	509
2 Texas (5) 3-0	435
3 Alabama (4) 3-0	425
4 Navy (3) 3-0	420
5 Wisconsin (1) 2-0	276
6 Pittsburgh (1) 3-0	275
7 San Diego State 2-1	274
8 Ohio State 2-0	155
9 Penn State 3-0	120
10 Michigan 2-1	118

Viking Harriers Beat Knox, Run Against Grinnell

Kim Dammers paced the Lawrence College Cross Country team to a 15-48 victory over Knox Saturday afternoon at Galesburg, Ill.

Dammers ran the distance in 18.09, and Lawrence runners also took the same five places.

Knox' Jim Watson placed seventh to lead the home team. Bill Holzworth, Dick Gram, Henry Kaiser, Steve Landfried and Bob Bonewitz, placed second through sixth for the Vikings.

The Vike harriers play host to Grinnell at 1 p.m. Saturday, for being the outstanding player in the Series, appeared at a downtown restaurant to claim his prize. The car was driven onto the sidewalk in front of the establishment so that photographers could get various angles of it and its new owner.

While the photographers were busy, a policeman wrote out a ticket charging Koufax with parking on a sidewalk and obstructing pedestrian traffic.

Defense Goes
Against Montreal

BOSTON (AP) — Montreal unveils the little round man, Gump Worsley, at goalie and Boston takes the wraps off its revamped defense in the 1963-64 National Hockey League opener Tuesday night.

Worsley, unmasked but far from unfamiliar, was the key acquisition by Les Canadiens in a multi-player trade with New York, which sent goalie Jacques Plante to the Rangers.

Canadiens have some old time firepower in Boom Boom Geoffrion, Jean Beliveau and Henri Richard, although Dickie Moore has returned.

Ironically, one of the keys to Boston's hopes for a stronger defense is Tom Johnson, drafted from Montreal. Johnson, who fell out of favor with Montreal fans last season, is the central figure on the defense corps with Leo Voivadin. They will work with NHL yearlings Teddy Green and Ed Westfall. Rookie Don Awrey and veteran AHL defenseman Bob McCord round out the group.

Ghost Harriers North Country Beautiful, Top Menasha And Preble

BY JOHN TORINUS
Post-Crescent Editor

PEMBINE, Wis. — As a hunting buddy of mine used to say: "I don't know of any country more beautiful than this not to shoot partridge in."

The northern Wisconsin woods are decked out in their gayest fall colors, the weather is the best Indian summer can offer, and as the brilliant sunshine fades from the scene a fireball full moon rises out of the trees to continue the display.

But the king of the game birds, Mr. Ruffed Grouse, must be surveying the scene from deep in the cedar swamps for he is not out and about feeding in the openings in any significant numbers.

Everyone believes there are a lot of birds available to the hunter this year. But our party and other hunters I have talked to haven't seen them yet. The chances are the cover is still too heavy, that feed is still available close to the swamps partridges like to hide in. Only several more weeks of fall turning to winter will tell.

There have been sufficient frosts in this far northern area to kill the bracken. But they are still standing along with lush weed growth and there

Tax Cut Bill Would Affect All Brackets

BY SYLVIA PORTER

The way the tax rate cuts in the 1963 tax bill have been explained to you in terms of that percent of your adjusted gross income but not more than $1,000. The 1963 tax bill would have this $1,000 ceiling unchanged but would create a new floor or minimum which each could be higher than 10 per cent of your adjusted gross income.

Beginning in 1964, if you are a married person filing a joint return or an unmarried person filing your own return, you would be entitled to a new floor standard deduction of $400 plus $30 more for every dependent except one on the return, including the exemptions for a husband or wife, dependent and child and grandchild.

Married Man
Say Smith is a married man and man with three dependent children and he has a taxable income with his 50-year-old wife. His adjusted gross income is $6,000 and his personal deductions come to $650. Under today's rules, Smith would abate the $650 deduction of personal expenses on a 10 per cent of his adjusted gross income.

In the 1963 bill, however, Smith's new floor would be set at a new minimum standard deduction of $400 plus $100 for his own exempt member for being 65 or over, another for his wife and one each for his three dependent children. This change alone would save him the taxes he otherwise would have paid on $130.

Second of Series
The 1963 tax bill would cut rates for individuals in every bracket from top to bottom. Part of the rate reductions would be made in 1964, the full reductions would apply for 1965 and on. The present rates, which run from a low of 20 per cent to a high of 91 per cent, would in 1965 start at 14 per cent and go up to 70 per cent.

Suppose you, a married man, itemized your deductions on last year's Form 1040 and wound up with a taxable income of $6,000 on line 11d, after subtracting your exemptions and deductions.

$240 Savings
Your tax last year was $1,240 and it will be $1,240 for 1963 on the same $6,000 of taxable income. But if the House-passed bill becomes law, your tax for 1964 would drop to $1,000 and for 1965 to $1,000. You then would be saving $240 a year just from the new, lower rates. Now take out your last year's tax form, see what you entered on line 11d and check on this table what your tax savings would be.

Taxable Income	'63 Tax	'64 Tax	'65 Tax
$1,000	$17.00	$16.00	$15.00
$2,000	$34.00	$32.00	$30.00

U.S. Aid Programs To Viet Nam Probed

Officials Seek to Discover If Money Helps Win War Against Viet Cong Guerrillas

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. aid has had the effect of holding up programs for South Viet Nam are approval in some cases that previously would have received a prompt go-ahead.

Report On Trip

Meanwhile, some of the senators who have demanded an end to military and economic aid to the Diem government question Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The two report today to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on their recent mission to Saigon.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said in advance of their closed questioning that their reports indicated a likelihood of beating down the Communist guerrillas by 1965 were "designed to snuff out the spreading congressional revolt against the Diem regime."

Church and 32 other senators are sponsoring a resolution recommending all aid be cut off unless South Viet Nam President Ngo Dinh Diem ceases his "policies of oppression" against Buddhists and seeks the support of his people.

We're Winning

McNamara and Taylor told a closed session of the Senate Armed Services Committee last Thursday that "we are winning the war" in Viet Nam.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, said some senators at that briefing "expressed skepticism about the situation being as bright as Secretary McNamara thought it was."

The Vietnamese situation was one of the topics discussed by high ranking administration officials Monday as part of a two-day briefing at the State Department for newsmen and broadcasters around the United States.

President Kennedy and AID director David Bell are on the program today. Under the rules of the session, information from the speakers cannot be attributed by name.

Indonesia Believes JFK to Visit Nation

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The official Indonesian news agency Antara said today President Kennedy is likely to visit Indonesia in December as part of a Far Eastern tour.

A dispatch from the agency's Washington correspondent said Kennedy's itinerary also would probably include Japan, the Philippines and Australia.

An American Embassy official commented: "We haven't heard anything about such a visit in the near future. However, there is no doubt President Sukarno would welcome the visit."

Slow Burning Fire

The Peshtigo fire was an outgrowth of a series of slow-burning blazes in pine needle blankets and peat bogs. The acrid smell was in the air for weeks before and volunteers had been in and out of the woods trying to extinguish them.

Fanned by galelike winds, the small fires merged, forests were soon ablaze and flames roared into the village. This was a Sunday night. The time: about 10 p.m.

Ran for Lives

Within 20 minutes the entire town was ablaze and residents were running for their lives toward the Peshtigo River in the center of the community. Many made it; some did not.

The fire raged through the night. At daybreak when the wind had died down the flames abated, and the heart-rending task of searching for the missing began.

The death toll continued to rise for days as fever and shock claimed additional victims.

Officially, Peshtigo's population was listed at 1,750 at the time of the fire. But historians say hundreds of transient workmen, many of them immigrants, also were living in the village or nearby. Many were trapped and died in the flames.

Sinatra Will End Interests In Gambling

Singer Says He Intended to Pull Out for Some Time

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Singer Frank Sinatra, who surrendered $3.5 million in Nevada gaming interests, says he's going to concentrate on the entertainment field from now on.

But he wished the gambling industry good luck in parting. Casinos, he said, make jobs for entertainers and he's all for them.

Sinatra announced Monday he would not fight an attempt by the Nevada Gaming Commission to revoke his license. He said he'd been planning to pull out for several months.

The commission had been seeking to revoke Sinatra's license on grounds he entertained underworld figure Sam Giancana at Sinatra's Cal-Neva lodge in Lake Tahoe.

9 Per Cent Interest

Sinatra's attorney, Harry Claiborne, asked the Gaming Commission in a letter Monday to terminate the singer's license adding he was withdrawing from the gaming industry.

The singer's withdrawal was expected to end further action by the commission, although technically it still could proceed.

The Gaming Control Board had asked the State Gaming Commission, its parent organization, to revoke Sinatra's gaming license at Cal-Neva and to force him to give up his 9 per cent interest in the Sands hotel in Las Vegas.

Sinatra's interest in Cal-Neva was estimated at $3 million, his Sands hotel holdings at about $380,000.

Daughter Finds Her Mother After 30 Years

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Terry Ritz's parents were divorced when she was 9, and she stayed with her father. After he died, Terry moved from New York to Miami Beach, where Mary Ritz had lived for 17 years.

Terry, 39, a waitress, served Mrs. Ritz for six months. Monday she impulsively asked if her name was Marion.

"I don't know what it was," said Terry, "but something rang a bell with me. I had nobody. Now all of a sudden I have a mother."

"It's so fantastic I don't know what to say," commented Mrs. Ritz.

Strangers' Chance of Viewing Fischer Quints Very Slim

ABERDEEN, S.D. (AP) — Some three weeks after the Fischer quintuplets were born, a sun-burned farmer hailed an acquaintance in Aberdeen:

"Say, where's St. Luke's Hospital? Think I'll go over and see the quint."

He was back in no time, surprise on his weathered features. "They won't let you in," he complained.

Natives of this South Dakota prairie city could have saved him the trouble.

They know the four girls and a boy, growing stronger daily, are off limits. They have adopted a live-and-let-live policy toward Andy and Mary Ann Fischer, the quint's parents. The Fischers operate in a strange semi-isolation while they carry out their contract for exclusive magazine and television rights to details of their story. Andy has been too busy to return to his $80-a-week job as a shipping clerk.

Aberdeen seems uncertain of how to proceed. Increased business, tourist and otherwise, which the quint are certain to draw, is tempting. But few persons would want it, or admit to wanting it. At the expense of the five's welfare or reasonable privacy.

It appears the quint will go home, when their doctor permits, to a weathered nine-room farmhouse. Its stucco sides are faded, but it sports a bright blue shingle roof.

No guard is posted to keep away the curious, but few stop.

Chandler, 65, was admitted to the hospital for treatment of a kidney stone, a relative said. The stone passed normally and no surgery was necessary.

Official Warns State Budget Will be Short $10 Million in Aids

SUSSEX, Wis. (AP) — George Tipler, executive secretary of the Wisconsin Association of School Boards, said Monday night the new state budget will be short $10.3 million in school aids in its second year of operation.

Tipler said the budget also will be $800,000 short in estimated school transportation aids needed for the second year. He added unless deficiency appropriations are made by the Legislature, local school boards will have to raise additional funds or curtail their programs.

Sues Mother For Invasion Of Privacy

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A 63-year-old disinherited attorney is suing his 88-year-old mother for

John C. Hickey of Reno, Nev., charges slander and invasion of privacy.

"This is an aggravated case of mother fixation," he said Monday about his mother, Mrs. Grace Hickey of San Francisco "she just won't leave me alone."

Hickey charged in the suit that his mother offered his second wife, Betty "large sums" of money to divorce him. Hickey is asking $250,000 for this, and $250,000 punitive damages. The couple is still together.

He seeks another $200,000 for an alleged telephone campaign by Mrs. Hickey during which he charges she called business and professional associates to brand him as an alcoholic, untrustworthy, irresponsible and morally weak.

"I'm no tee-totaler and I don't like to appear holier-than-thou," Hickey said at a news conference. "But I'm not what she painted me to be."

Tipler spoke at a district meeting of board members and administrators at Hamilton High School.

Betancourt Puts Blame For Venezuelan Terror On Cuban Dictator

Calls for Public Support in Police Campaign Against Reds

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — was also deposed in a coup. The President Romulo Betancourt military government ordered a state of siege after university students battled police in Santo Domingo, the capital. The students attempted to march on the presidential palace to protest the ouster of President Juan D. Bosch. Police fired machine guns hurled tear gas and the students retaliated with stones. About 50 students were arrested.

In a nationwide broadcast, Betancourt appealed for public support of the police and military campaign to crush the terrorists.

Betancourt said Communists and fellow travelers are waging the campaign of terrorism to lock Venezuela's national elections scheduled for Dec. 1 but he said control of the government is even more firmly in his hands than when he assumed office four years ago.

There was no abatement in the terrorism that has promoted the government to move paratroopers and other military units into Caracas. Three more persons died in street battles Monday night.

Elsewhere in Latin America: — The new military regime in Honduras set up machine guns in the central plaza of Tegucigalpa, the capital, after it received reports of plans for anti-government demonstrations by students.

NEW YORK (AP)—Interest in auto and sugar company stocks perked up but the over-all stock market remained mixed early this afternoon. Trading held to Monday's moderate pace.

A number of top corporate names advanced a full point but there were enough scattered losses to produce small losses among the market averages.

Motors turned upward. Sugar futures prices jumped ahead in the day in commodity trading.

At noon the Associated Press 60 stock average was off .2 at 278 with industrials and rails off .4 and utilities up .2.

Steels, aircrafts and rails were down fractionally while rubbers, chemicals, utilities and oils were mixed.

Among the motors Chrysler touched a new high with a gain of more than 2.

GM was ahead a major fraction. American Motors and Ford had small gains.

American Crystal led the sugar stocks with a gain of nearly 4 points. Up around 1 1/2 each were Holly Sugar, Great Western Sugar, South Puerto Rico Sugar and Central Aguirre Sugar. Amalgamated was up more than 1/2.

RCA was head close to 2 after picking up 1/2 Monday.

90 Holsteins of Pabst Herd Sold For Over $81,000

OCONOMOWOC (AP)—Ninety head of Holstein cattle from the famed Pabst dairy farm herd brought $81,510 at an auction Monday attended by more than 1,000 persons. The sale average was $905.

The buyers, from nine states, Canada, Mexico and Brazil, had competition from telephone bids. Hawthorn Sovereign Regal, a five-year-old cow, topped the sale at $4,900. It was purchased by A. D. Braun, owner of Braun's Sunny Lea farm at Oconomowoc.

The second highest animal, six-year-old Pabst Leader Posch Burke Hope, was purchased for $3,200 by San Margale farm, Oregon, Ohio. Harvey A. Nelson & Sons of Union Grove, Wis., purchased the third highest animal, a two-year-old heifer, Pabst Admiration Cornflower, for $2,300.

Potato Growers Turn Down Marketing Order

PRESQUE ISLE, Maine (AP)—Maine potato growers have voted almost two to one for suspension of a federal marketing order and agreement during the 1963-64 sales season.

The tally, completed Sunday, was 971-483 for suspension. Although the vote was advisory to the Maine Potato Marketing Committee, its manager, Leo M. Daigle said the 20-man group probably would meet within 10 days to "make it official."

The next step would be a formal suspension petition to Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman.

The Opportunity May Be Yours To Double The Value of Your Self-employed Pension Plan

"I'm self-employed what does the latest tax law mean to me?" "What tax deductions can I get now?" "How can life insurance fit into my pension plan?" ... Those are questions you'll want answered if you're a professional man or own an unincorporated business. You'll definitely want to check what life insurance can do: it's the only way, for example, you can get big death benefits for your family and pile up retirement money at the same time.

There's one person particularly well suited to help you—New England Life's "man of opportunity." He is one of a select group of our agents who have earned this designation through knowledge, experience and initiative.

Increasing the value of a pension plan is just one of the opportunities available through the judicious use of life insurance. Exploring this opportunity and others for men like you is the full-time job of the man of opportunity. And, with his broad understanding of business and tax legislation, he's ready to work closely with your lawyer or trust officer.

Many of the uses of insurance that can be related to your circumstances are covered in our PORTFOLIO OF OPPORTUNITY. It's a collection of timely reports, including "Double the Value of Your Self-Employed Pension Plans."

Police Officer and Valachi Tell About Crime Overlords

Genovese Termed Big Boss;
Bonanno Among 5 'Families'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Using Valachi told the senators the elaborate, detailed charts, a New York police officer and Joseph Valachi, ganglands gravel-voiced, the secret crime organization, are songbird, spelled out who's who Vito Genovese, Carlo Gambino, in the New York underworld today at a Senate hearing held under an anonymous threat of bombing.

Because of telephoned tips the place would be bombed, and that Valachi would be shot, the guarding force of U.S. marshals and security officers was beefed up for this session of the Senate investigations subcommittee.

Inquiry Begun Into Affairs of Party Official

Democratic Worker
Accused of Using Job to Get Contracts

BY JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP)—The FBI has launched an investigation into the business affairs of Robert G. Baker, 36, who resigned his $19,600 a year post as secretary to the Democratic majority in the Senate.

A Justice Department source disclosed the investigation shortly before Baker resigned his post as secretary to the Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield announced Baker's resignation Monday.

The inquiry apparently began with allegations in a $300,000 civil damage suit that Baker used his office to help win contracts with

Haitian Hurricane Death Toll Set at 2,000 to 4,000

Rains, Winds Lashing at Southeast Cuba for Fifth Day as Disaster Grows

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Flora still hovered over southeast Cuba today, its relentless rains and buffeting winds lashing the island for the fifth consecutive day.

The Weather Bureau in Miami said no storm in 75 years had battered one area for so long. Flora's winds were dropping, but there was no indication when its drenching torrents would dissipate or move on.

As the storm plunged Cuba's Communist regime into the worst economic disaster of its nearly five years in power, neighboring Haiti reported Flora had killed

2,000 to 4,000 persons and made 100,000 homeless last week.

The Cuban government reported 11 dead. Two Americans drowned at the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo. Jamaica reported nine dead, and 17 were killed on the island of Tobago by Flora last week.

Heller Forecasts
$600 Billion Level
For U. S. Economy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government's top economist predicted today that the national economy will hit the $600 billion level for the first time early next year—and bring more benefits to consumers.

The forecast came from Dr. Walter Heller, chairman of President Kennedy's Council of Economic Advisers in connection with the submission of the first report to Kennedy of the Consumer Advisory Council.

The consumer council, among other things, recommended "immediate and positive action" to bar racial discrimination against customers of hotels, stores, theaters, restaurants and other businesses. It said a larger tax cut may be required for small taxpayers. It called for truth in packaging and lending.

Relief Offered From U.S.

The American Red Cross cabled Cuba's Red Cross an offer of relief supplies and workers.

Mayari, Castro's birthplace in hard-hit northern Oriente Province, radioed an appeal for aid from the U.S. Naval Station at nearby Guantanamo Bay, but a Santiago station cut in and told Mayari to stop calling the U.S. base.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Miami said late Monday night that Flora's peak winds had subsided to 75 m.p.h. — minimum strength for a hurricane. It predicted Flora would remain stationary or drift a bit north today. Flora was then still lurking on Southeastern Cuba's Caribbean

American Vice Consul Bob Hommet, second from left, and other people who participated in the search for members of an expedition in Mexico confer with some of the party. They were rescued Monday from the famed Mexican Copper Canyon in Chihuahua state, in which the expedition became stranded.

14 Explorers Surprised to Hear of Search

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico (AP)—A group of American explorers, none of whom had been heard from in more than a week, arrived here today greatly surprised that a search had been launched for them.

The explorers, including two young women, were discovered Monday at the primitive village of Creel, located about 7,600 feet above sea level in the mountains of northwest Mexico.

Ten men and the two women arrived by train at 3 a.m. (EST) today. Two other members of the party, with vacation time still on their hands, went to the Pacific coast resort of Las Mochis.

The party was greeted at the station by James D. Dean, 31, of Salt Lake City, Utah. Dean was a member of the expedition when it started a proposed 120-mile float trip Sept. 25 down the Rio Urique.

The river flows through the Barranca de Cobre gorge, an area described as more rugged and dangerous than the Grand Canyon in Arizona.

The party covered only eight miles in four days because of low water and boulders in the river. Running low on food, Dean and Larry Davis, 26, of Price, Utah, left on foot to pick up supplies at a mining camp. It took them another four days to cover 15 miles. They finally met some Indians who took them to the camp.

Probers Hunting Source of Poisoned Smoked Whitefish

None Sold in Fox Cities Area;
4 Deaths Reported in 2 States

DETROIT (AP) — Government investigators hunted with test tubes today for the source or sources of poisoned smoked whitefish blamed for four deaths in two states.

A Michigan producer of smoked whitefish held off on further operation after ordering the destruction of all its distributed stock.

Two deaths from deadly botulism Monday in Tennessee — following by six days two similar deaths in Michigan — led to the precautions.

One Critically Ill

Eight other persons were ill in Tennessee, one critically.

At least seven of the victims had eaten smoked whitefish, medical authorities said.

The Federal Food and Drug Administration at Washington ordered tests of Michigan whitefish samples at its laboratories in Detroit.

At the Lake Michigan port of Grand Haven, the firm of H. J. Dornbos & Bros., which has produced smoked whitefish for 70-odd years, suspended work pending results of the inquiry.

Taken Off Shelves

Three national food store chains — A&P, National Food, and Kroger — ordered the product removed from shelves of their stores.

(Representatives of Krambo (Kroger) National and A&P food stores said smoked whitefish produced by H. J. Dornbos and Brothers, Grand Haven, Mich., is not sold in this area.)

(In fact, none of the three chain food stores is carrying any brand of smoked whitefish on its shelves.)

(As an added precaution, smoked fish of all varieties was removed Monday from the shelves of Krambo stores on orders of the national office.)

Harold Dornbos, president of the Michigan fisheries company, said he closed his plant voluntarily before the imposition of an embargo on his inventory by the Michigan State Department of Agriculture.

"What a horrible, horrible thing. We are doing everything that can be done," Dornbos said.

The Tennessee deaths were those of David S. Cohen, 35, Knoxville businessman, and his daughter, May Beth, 10.

Death in Michigan

Chester O. Mitchell, 64, and his wife, Blanche, 63, a Kalamazoo, Mich., couple, died last Wednesday.

The Dornbos firm, founded in 1889, distributed its smoked whitefish nationwide.

State Inspectors Hunt for Possible Tainted Whitefish

MADISON (AP)—State Department of Agriculture inspectors began a search of Wisconsin stores today to determine if stocks contain a type of smoked whitefish reportedly responsible for deaths in Michigan and Tennessee.

John McClellan, supervisor of food inspection for the dairy and food trade division, said inspectors began their work in the Milwaukee and Madison areas and that others would be covering the state.

McClellan said that so far he had received no reports of the product being on sale but noted that at least three chain outlets in the state have taken steps to remove the food if it is available.

Wisconsin has no prohibition against the sale of vacuum packaged fish, but McClellan noted that state law gives the department authority to seize any food if there is reason to believe it might be dangerous.

107 Buddhists Freed In Viet Nam, Diem Says

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — President Ngo Dinh Diem's government announced today that 107 Buddhist monks and followers arrested in the government crackdown last August were released Monday.

They had been detained nearly seven weeks, since troops and riot police stormed pagodas Aug. 21 and arrested Buddhist leaders and followers throughout the country.

The announcement did not say how many Buddhists were still held. More than 2,000 were reported arrested in August.

Board Will Not Accept Resignation by Head Of Chicago Schools

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Board of Education has refused to accept the resignation of School Supt. Benjamin C. Willis from his $48,500 job.

The board voted 6-2 in turning down the resignation in a special meeting Monday and also approved a motion to name a three-man committee to confer with Willis.

Willis, 61, resigned Friday after the Illinois Appellate Court upheld a Chicago Superior Court decision directing Willis to allow four top Negro high school students to transfer to other schools.

Willis, whose annual salary ranks behind only that of President Kennedy and New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, has been out of town since Sunday, his secretary said.

Willis has been school superintendent since 1953. His contract was to expire next year.

Ike Wants GOP to Agree on Policy, Then Select Best-Qualified Candidate

BY JACK BELL

MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower wants Republicans to battle out policy differences publicly at the 1964 convention—and then pick a presidential candidate best representing majority views proclaimed in a terse party platform.

In an interview with The Associated Press, Eisenhower said he would "like to see a good lively other points he made in a far-ranging discussion of political matters:

—He believes he may have been mistaken in interpretation of some of the views of Sen. Barry Goldwater, particularly on repeal of the graduated income tax. But Eisenhower also still believes that before the Arizona senator "can be considered a truly serious candidate, he has to do his best to make his views clear"—in presidential primaries and otherwise.

on such matters as foreign policy, medical care for the aged, fiscal responsibility, the farm problem and civil rights.

Nixon Not in Race

—He has "kept very still in expressing a personal preference" for the presidential nomination because "I have no intention of trying to be a kingmaker." But he thinks three or four men he declined to name are more highly qualified than others to be president.

—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon has told him he was removing himself absolutely from the 1964 presidential nomination contest. "But," says Eisenhower, "I suppose that if suddenly there was a wave of support that threw him again into the race, there would be no question about his capacity to perform the job."

Question: Mr. President, you had quite a bit of experience in the field. What kind of a president do you think Kennedy is making?

Gen. Eisenhower: One thing I have always avoided is dealing in personalities. But I will say that in almost every domestic program, I see what I consider is a degree of, if not recklessness, at least of carelessness in our budgetary affairs, so that there are few domestic programs, that he has advanced, that I could agree with wholly.

Q. The other day you wrote that you are unclear on precisely what are Sen. Goldwater's present views. You called on him and other Republican presidential possibilities to state their views clearly. On what particular issues are you unclear about Goldwater's?

Assessor's Salary Doubled in Hilbert

Ed Heling Takes Over Position;
$100 Given for Added Work

HILBERT — The village board at its October meeting swore in a new village assessor and doubled the salary for the position.

Taking the oath of office was Ed Heling. He was appointed by the village board after Howard Sielaff, veteran village assessor, resigned two months ago.

Beginning next year, the post will pay $400 a year. The assessor's annual salary had been $200 for many years. The pay hike will be fitted into the village budget for 1964 in November.

Special Bonus

In addition to the pay hike, the board approved a special $100 bonus to the assessor for the additional work of bringing the card index file up to date. The file has been neglected, the board implied.

The first bills for work and materials on the water and sewer main extension project along

State 114 west of here are coming in and the board authorized President Orville Manz and Village Clerk-Treasurer Mrs. Arthur Pruess to borrow money to finance the project.

Trustee Vernon Schomburg said estimated costs of the work range between $8,000 and $10,000, including about $4,000 for materials.

Fire Pact

The mutual assistance fire pact involving all of the county's volunteer fire departments was approved by the board. Provisions of the contract enable fire chiefs to call for cost free assistance from neighboring departments in the event of emergencies.

The firemen also complained that the red warning flasher light mounted on the department's newest truck was partially obscured by ladders. The department volunteered to pay for installation of a taller light mounting if the board would extend into the new firehouse the water piping facilities used to load the truck. The door leading to the existing loading pipe is too low for the proposed flasher light. This was approved by the board.

A tax claim for $326 brought against the village by the Town of Woodville has been approved by the State Department of Taxation, and this amount will be deducted from the village's income apportionment next year, the board learned. The money was erroneously assigned to Hilbert this year.

Woodville Claim

Another claim originated by Woodville seeking $126 is awaiting state certification.

No action was taken on a proposal to grant veteran village employees more than a week's vacation.

Mother Fined for Drawing Knife on County Officer

Mrs. Beverly Reischl, 35, Bear Creek, a mother of 10 children who last week pulled a knife on an Outagamie County Sheriff's Department investigator was fined $200 and court costs and placed on probation for two years. The woman appeared Friday for sentencing in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Mrs. Reischl was arrested by Sheriff Lt. Jack Frenz and charged with resisting an officer. Frenz and other police and investigators went to the Reischl home to question Mrs. Reischl's son. Mrs. Reischl refused to allow her son to go with the police and pulled the kitchen knife on Frenz. Judge Gustave Keller reprimanded Mrs. Reischl and told her the court does not tolerate disrespect of policemen. He said during her probation, Mrs. Reischl is to see that all her children attend school regularly.

New London Boat Club Slates Party

NEW LONDON—The New London Boat Club has set Dec. 7 for its Christmas party to be held in the American Legion clubhouse, according to Robert Polaske, commodore.

This year's Christmas party will be the first in three years to be open to the public. Polaske said Mr. and Mrs. Harold Klitz have been named chairmen for the event.

At a recent meeting Al Schafer and Leonard Roff were named to a nominating committee to select a slate of officer candidates. They will make their report at the regular November meeting and the election will be held the first Tuesday in December. An auditing committee made up of Dr. H. R. Trombley, Duane Conlon and Hilbert Berkahn will also make a report at the November meeting.

Garden Club Float Wins Prize

'Horse and Buggy Days' End in Weyauwega With Colorful Parade

BY MRS. VERNON PASCHKE

WEYAUWEGA — "Blooms and Bossy Days," with a sunbonnet and a garden setting, won a float trophy in the organizations division for the Weyauwega Garden Club in the Chamber of Commerce's annual Horse and Buggy parade.

Weyauwega Milk Products received the trophy for commercial entries with a Peerless steam engine pulling the West Bloomfield band, an organization in its seventy-sixth year. All members wore Gay Nineties apparel.

Harvey Nowak was awarded the comedy section trophy with a silver horse disguise on his off-center bicycle. His slogan: "We Have Our Ups and Downs."

Other Trophies

Other trophies were won by Skogmo's and Metzger's Tog Shop in the horse and buggy division and the cooperative entry of the Benson Corporation and Farmers and Merchants Bank in the all-around class. The latter corporations sponsored the six-hitch Clydesdale horse team of Erich Struck and Melvin Leitzke.

Judges for the event were Frank Smith, village president of Fremont and Mayors Charles Hoffman of Manawa and Lloyd Mathewson of Waupaca.

The parade, held Saturday afternoon, was led by the Weyauwega Union High School band with Mary Jane Van Duyse, former Green Bay Packer Golden Girl, in the lead.

Featured was Warren Heberling, retired harness racer. Horses and donkeys pulled a variety of colorful plants, won a float trophy in the organizations division for the Weyauwega Garden Club in the Chamber of Commerce's annual Horse and Buggy parade.

Country Doctor Dr. L. P. Maasch, dressed as the old country doctor, brought the stork carrying a baby in his buggy. Senior Girl Scouts, clad in the shapeless uniforms of another era, held a "cook-out" on their float. The Bright Star, a 4-H club, dressed in appropriate garb, gathered for an old-fashioned get-together for "The Good Old Days — Without 'Em We Wouldn't Be Here."

The float of Langner's Radio and TV Service compared family entertainment in 1863 and 1963. A mammoth top hat, enhanced by a comely lass, proclaimed "Tops in Dry Cleaning" for the Weyauwega Cleaners.

A bicycle built for two, a young miss in a wicker buggy, an elevated bicycle, saddle horses and an old steam engine added color to the parade.

Parade watchers had an added treat when the West Bloomfield band returned for further entertainment. A short time later the high school band led horse drawn carriages carrying the former Sandra Melien and Thomas Schneider and their wedding party from St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran Church through the city to the Legion clubhouse where the newly-married couple was honored at a reception.

Antique Sale

An antique sale was held in the former office of Dr. Maasch. Cigar molds, a coffee grinder, a variety of cut glass items, old dishes, an early electric projector for slides and a spinning wheel were among the sale offerings.

An unusual collection of antiques, loaned by area residents, was displayed in the store windows. A hardware store featured a wooden doll's cradle made in 1883. It's occupant, a china doll, was purchased in 1880.

An atlas, featured in a clothing store window, contained pictures of Dr. W. E. Popelars, local veterinarian; the late Theo.

'Piggy-Back to Costa Rica' Has Hurdled Another Snafu

Weyauwega Durocs Will Leave Mitchell Field 7:30 Tonight

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Red tape began to tangle again Monday, and it looked doubtful whether Gilbert Rojas, a Costa Rican youth, would receive his two Duroc hogs on schedule.

A schedule had been arranged for the two 50 pound hogs to leave for Miami, Fla., at 10:30 a. m. Wednesday. When confirmation of flights was checked, it was learned other things were not going as smoothly as they should be. Another delay was drastically close. Rojas, 20, who lives in Palmares, Alajuela, Costa Rica, visited the United States last year and expressed his desire to have two purebred hogs with which to start a herd of his own. Returning home, he saved enough money from his $40 a month job to purchase the hogs. He has been waiting since July 24 when they were originally scheduled to leave Milwaukee by air.

First Attempt

In this first attempt to ship the hogs, Walter Kaminski, a Weyauwega farmer who donated the purebred porkers to Rojas, and Joe Walker, Waupaca County farm agent, ran into so much red tape they had to abandon their plan. The complete story on Rojas and the difficulties encountered in getting the two hogs to Costa Rica appeared in last Sunday's Post-Crescent.

John Sawall, a Post-Crescent regional reporter, was to accompany the porkers. He went to Milwaukee Monday to check arrangements. Arriving at Mitchell Field, the cloud of red tape began to descend. Inquiring at the airline reservation desk about his own reservations, everything appeared to be fine. But when he explained briefly about the purpose of the trip and asked if the hogs would travel on the same flight, the ticket clerk got a puzzled look on his face and said, "I don't think we can carry hogs on that flight, but I'll check."

More Confusion

After a hurried phone call to the airlines freight office, things became more confused. Sawall was sent to the freight department to tell his story again and find out if they knew anything about the two hogs going to Costa Rica.

All he got was another puzzled look and was sent to the Air Express office where he was confronted with the same puzzled look and the disheartening answer, "what two hogs?"

Phone Calls

Time came for Sawall to seek help and a round of phone calls followed between Milwaukee and Appleton. Roy Valitckha, regional editor, was able to contact Walker who had made the arrangements for the flight and found out the name of the air express agent he spoke to when he went to Milwaukee Sept. 19.

It was the agent's day off Monday. Finally located at his home, he confirmed arrangements made with Walker, but said he did not know that the pigs would not be able to leave on the Wednesday morning passenger flight.

Freight Flight

Now came the job of finding a flight the hogs could travel on. Another series of phone calls between freight offices and airlines followed and eventually an Eastern Airlines freight flight was found that would take the two hogs from Chicago to Miami where connections would be made with a Costa Rican Airline for the final leg of the journey. A flight from Milwaukee to Chicago also was arranged and "Piggy-Back to Costa Rica," the name tagged to the project, seemed to have it's head above the red tape.

Now all Sawall had to do was start over on his own reservations. An agent at the Eastern Airlines Air Freight office said he thought there was room for passengers on the same flight the hogs were going on, so back to the ticket counter. By this time the first ticket agent had gone off duty and was replaced by another man who couldn't figure out why anybody wanted to travel on a freight flight.

Tells Story Again

The story of the hogs was told again and work was started on making the reservations aboard the freighter.

Both the hogs and reporter were scheduled to make a change of planes at Atlanta, Ga., so a phone call had to be made to Atlanta to reserve a seat on the Miami bound plane.

By the time the reporter and two hogs were set to travel together, the sun was beginning to set. Walker and Kaminski had to be notified that everything had been moved up a day and hogs would have to be in Milwaukee Tuesday afternoon instead of Wednesday morning.

Stumbling blocks of all types have continued to crop up, but with the combined effort of a determined group, it now looks as though Gilbert should now be receiving his two Durocs Thursday morning at 10:40 a.m.

Brillion Host to District FFA

200 Boys, Advisors Hear Talks on Leadership Duties

BRILLION — About 200 Future Farmers of America boys and their advisors were guests of the Brillion FFA chapter Wednesday afternoon when the Brillion group was host to the district FFA leadership training school. Districts 25, 30, 31 and 32 were represented at the annual program for acquainting the newly elected officers with their duties.

Guest speaker was Orlo Koerth, rural Brillion. Koerth spoke on "The Need for Leadership in Your Community" and emphasized the need of leaders to keep agriculture dynamic and growing. The Brillion FFA chapter was in charge of opening and closing ceremonies.

Jerome Pietz, Birnamwood, the state vice-president, also spoke. Slides and demonstrations were given by the Sevastopol FFA chapter which attended the Kansas City American Institute of Cooperation.

Schools included in the district program were Algoma, Brussels, Campbellsport, Chilton, Casco, Denmark, Elkhart Lake, Fish Creek, Kiel, Kewaunee, Luxemburg, New Holstein, Manitowish, Southern Door County, Mishicot, Omro, Oshkosh, Plymouth, Random Lake, Ripon, Rosendale, Reedsville, Sheboygan Falls, Sevastopol, Valders, Waupaca, Winneconne, and Brillion.

Waupaca Judge Grants Divorce

WAUPACA — Mrs. Carla Jean Colyar, Waupaca, was granted a divorce from Richard L. Colyar, 29, Wisconsin Dells, Thursday by Judge Wendell McHenry in county court.

They were married June 20, 1953, and separated Dec. 2, 1962. Mrs. Colyar was granted alimony and the custody of their five children. There also was a property settlement.

Chilton Pays at Two Ends for Vocational And Adult Education

Underwrites Major Share of Own Program, Out-of-City Tuitions

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

CHILTON — The city of Chilton picks up the tab for vocational and adult education with both three county municipalities that escape the county fee because the municipalities have local boards of vocational and adult education. Brillion and Appleton are the other two.

With one hand it accepts the bill for its portion of the vocational and adult education tuition fees compiled by county youths attending vocational schools in other cities and with the other hand it indirectly pays the major share of a local adult education program's costs.

This situation developed as a result of city council sanction of the local program conducted at Chilton High School. Because the city does not have a board of vocational and adult education and can no longer create one, the local program was developed on some basis of a "sub-contract" with the New Holstein Board of Vocational and Adult Education.

Qualify for State Aids This was done to qualify the local adult night classes for state aids. The entire program here at New Holstein is officially the responsibility of the New Holstein board but it bills Chilton for that portion of the curriculum completed at the high school here.

The city hands the bill, which amounts to $777 last year, directly to the Chilton District Board of Education and it is paid from district funds. However, the city provides 68 per cent of the district's tax base, so the major share, Kiehl was assessed $73; share of the program is paid indirectly by local tax dollars.

Meanwhile, the city is billed town, $274; Charlestown, $195; from the county on an equalized valuation basis, for the vocational school tuition of county youths $222; Stockbridge, $261, and attending neighboring vocational Woodville, $235.

schools. New Holstein is not, because it has a local board of vocational and adult education. New Holstein is but one of the three county municipalities that escape the county fee because the municipalities have local boards of vocational and adult education. Brillion and Appleton are the other two.

Fulltime Students Appleton has a vocational school for fulltime students while the night classes offered at Brillion and New Holstein — and at Chilton under the auspices of New Holstein — are more of an adult hobby nature.

Certification of amounts due from municipalities for vocational and adult education by County Clerk Roland E. Miller this week shows Chilton assessed with the largest single payment, $542. The local program, meanwhile, cost $777. This was offset partially by $125 in state aid leaving $652 billed to the city but paid by the district. Since the city constitutes 68 per cent of the district, Chilton taxes will provide $443 of the amount after state aids.

The city's situation is unique in the county. It is shared in part, however, by the townships which have territory within the Chilton School District, although on a less degree.

The vocational school tuition fees certified by the county total $3,392. In addition to the city's tax base, Kiehl was assessed $73; Stockbridge village, $73; Hilbert, $133; Brillion town, $307; Brotherstown, $274; Charlestown, $195; from the county on an equalized valuation basis, for the vocational school tuition of county youths $222; Stockbridge, $261, and attending neighboring vocational Woodville, $235.

New 550-Foot Cargo Dock Planned For Green Bay; to Cost $500,000

Facility Will Allow Unloading of Three Ships At One Time; Fourth Able to Berth at Site

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — A new 550-foot general cargo dock to handle overseas ships will be constructed in the Green Bay harbor, it was announced today.

Construction will start immediately, Fred L. Leicht, president of the Leicht Transfer & Storage Co., said. The major port development will involve an investment of more than $500,000.

The added dock facilities are designed to accommodate the growing role of Green Bay as a world port on the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Seaway.

The new dock—the third of 550 feet in length—will be constructed on Fox River frontage on the west bank between the west approach to the Main Street bridge and the Bunge Corp. grain storage elevator.

Bought Tract

Leicht's earlier this week purchased the tract, which is located between the river and the Chicago & North Western passenger depot, from the railroad. The price paid for the large area of harbor frontage was not disclosed.

The contract for building of the modern dock and wharf, which will have steel sheet piling, has been let to McMullen & Pitz, a local marine engineering firm.

The new dock will duplicate the facilities available now at Leicht's North Dock, just north of the grain elevator, and will be in addition to Leicht's State Street dock, which is located upriver near the south Green Bay city limits.

Unload Three Ships

The new general cargo facility will provide docking space in the harbor for loading and unloading three large ocean-going cargo ships at one time. In addition, a fourth large freighter will be able to tie up at a berthing space at the grain elevator.

Doubling of wharf space at North Dock will mean that more large ocean ships will be worked by stevedoring crews north of the Main Street bridge. Only smaller ships will make port calls upriver at State Street and have to move through the three highway bridges in Green Bay's inner harbor.

Preliminary work on the added dock and berthing space will involve removal of rotted and weathered pilings near the Main Street bridge. After new steel sheet piling is put in place, the riverfront property will be back-filled.

Next spring, after settling, a wide concrete apron will be laid in the dock area. Railroad track sidings, which also serve the grain elevator, will be available to move cargo directly from box-car to ship.

The doubly expanded North Dock will be available next May, in time for the opening of the 1964 Seaway shipping season, it is expected.

Lawyer Named In Forgery Case

WAUPACA — David S. Wege, 22, Fremont, asked for legal counsel Monday when he was arraigned before County Judge Wendell McHenry on a charge of forgery.

Judge McHenry appointed Atty. Edward J. Hart to defend Wege. No date was set for the trial.

Wege was ordered held for County Court Thursday when he appeared before Municipal Justice George Whalen. He was charged with forging three $15 checks, which he cashed Aug. 15 at Baehman's, Marty Vey's and Gerlach's business places in Weyauwega.

Laymen to Meet

FREMONT — The fall meeting of the Lutheran Layman's League with representatives from about seven churches of zone 5 will be held at the St. Paul Lutheran Church here at 8 p.m. Thursday. Men's Club officers and persons interested in the work of the Lutheran Hour will take part in the promotion planning.

2 Hurt as Car Leaves Road Near Waupaca

WAUPACA — Two people were driving went out of control at a junction on Waupaca Road, one injured and five cars were damaged Friday and Saturday in a series of four accidents, county police reported.

Allan J. Buretta, 19, Milwaukee, and Franklin Hudzinski, 23, Milwaukee, were cut about the face and bruised at 12:35 p. m. Saturday when the car Buretta was driving went out of control at a junction on Waupaca Road, one injured and five cars were damaged Friday and Saturday in a series of four accidents, county police reported.

Comet Offense Jells in Win Over Marion

Waupaca Takes 26-0 Decision in CWC Grid Contest

WAUPACA—The Waupaca High School football team staged its best offensive game of the season Friday night at Marion when the Comets chalked up a 26 to 0 Central Wisconsin conference victory. Coach Dick Weed told members of the Downtown Coaches Club Monday noon.

The Comets fumbled the ball shortly after the opening kickoff, but bounced back with a spectacular 65-yard touchdown sprint by Raul Reyes, who was returning the first Marion punt. The placement was wide. Weed said Reyes picked up some good downfield blocking from his teammates.

Quarterback Jim Strebe hit Oscar Reyes for a 38-yard touchdown play in the second quarter and Jay Diley's placement was good to give Waupaca a 13-0 lead.

In the third quarter, John Townsend broke off tackle for a 18-yard TD and Raul Reyes added the final touchdown in the fourth quarter on a 30-yard run. Diley's boot was good for the final point.

Weed said the Comets averaged eight yards per play. Waupaca gained 290 yards and Marion netted 95. By rushing, Waupaca led 176 to 77 and by passing, 114 to 18. Waupaca completed five out

Car Hits Deer

A car driven by Frederick P. Trebe, 19, Milwaukee, hit a deer and went into the ditch about 11:15 p. m. Saturday on U. S. 10, two miles west of Fremont. Trebe was going north and went into the east ditch, police said.

Dennis K. Steinbach, 22, route 3, Waupaca, drove his car into the ditch and hit a telephone pole about 3:40 a. m. Saturday on State 54, eight miles east of Waupaca. He was going south and went into the east ditch.

Damages were estimated at $325 about 4:50 p. m. Friday in a two-car accident on State 54 in Northport. Archie A. Beaudoin, 66, 1513 Smith St., New London, was going north on Ferry Street and Howard E. Bailey, 47, route 1, Manawa, was going west on 54 when the vehicles collided in the north lane of traffic.

of 13 passes and Marion connected with one out of seven. Waupaca had eight first downs and Marion six.

Weed said his defensive team looked good as the players trapped Marion runners for a total loss of 35 yards. He said a change in the players will strengthen the line for action Friday night against Bonduel.

Power Plays

The Comet mentor said Bonduel has a big line and succeeds by power plays, mostly at a few yards at a time.

He said Waupaca needs a win over Bonduel and Weyauwega will have to tip Wittenberg to give the Comets a chance to close in the championship division of the conference. Wittenberg is the only undefeated team in the conference.

Fall Circuit Conference Held At St. Paul Lutheran Church

FREMONT—The annual circuit conference for Missouri Synod Lutheran congregations in the area was held in St. Paul church Sunday evening. About 30 officers and members from Faith and Good Shepherd churches, Appleton, attended the meeting as well as pastors, officers and members from congregations at Fremont,

William C. Ebert

'Peter Pan' and 'Dr. Ben Crazy'

Chilton Homecoming Features 2 Themes

CHILTON — Chilton High School's homecoming this year will have a double theme, according to Gordon Schumacher, a student council adviser.

The gymnasium Friday night will be decorated in the "Peter Pan" theme for the homecoming dance while the high school band has selected "Dr. Ben Crazy" as the theme for its halftime show.

Highlight of the event will be the gridiron clash at 8 p. m. between the Plymouth Panthers and the Chilton Tigers.

Five Candidates

Homecoming planning began two weeks ago when the varsity football team picked a slate of five senior girls to serve as candidates for homecoming queen honors. Selected to vie for the homecoming throne were Sharon Horst, Bette Uhlenbrauck, Audrey Hertel, Jeanne Hoffmann and Patricia Reiser.

The entire student body voted to determine the queen, but the results of the balloting will not be disclosed until halftime ceremonies when last year's queen, Miss Shirley Franzen, crowns her successor.

Directing the band in its halftime performance will be Marvin W. Hoffmann. Also slated for the intermission period is the announcement of parade winners by Mayor Elmer Daun. Cash prizes totaling $25 will be awarded to the classes or organizations entering the top floats in the afternoon parade. Prizes will be $10,

91st Birthday Celebrated by Clintonville Man

CLINTONVILLE — William C. Ebert, route 2, celebrated his 91st birthday Sunday in the home of his son, Herman, also of route 2.

Eighty-eight persons were present for the dinner and supper. Sixty-three of the 67 immediate members of his family were in attendance, including a sister, Mrs. Louise Rehwinkel, Oakshosh, and two brothers, Frank, Fond du Lac, and Ed W., route 1, Clintonville. His sister and brothers are all over 80 years of age.

Ebert was born in the town of Scott, Sheboygan County, Wis. At the age of 9, he moved with his family to the home farm, now occupied by a son, William H. Ebert. Twenty-six years ago, Ebert retired from farming and moved to the place next door. Mrs. Ebert died in July, 1958. Ebert has four children, two sons, Herman and William H., and two daughters, Lillie, Mrs. Frank Kusche, route 1, Clintonville, and Viola, 17 grandchildren and 33 great-grandchildren.

first; $7.50, second; $5, third, and $2.50, fourth.

Parade Judges

The parade judges this year will be Dr. William Haasi, William Hertel and Mrs. Carl Hofmeister. A total of eight floats, the high school band, cars carrying the queen candidates and other units will make up the parade which is scheduled to start at 2:30. As in past years, the parade will assemble near the Milwaukee Road depot on E. Main Street.

It will proceed west on Main to State, north on State to School, east on School to N. Madison, and south on Madison to Brooklyn and the return to the school grounds.

In addition to the parade prizes, displays in Main Street store windows prepared by classes and organizations will be judged with $2.50 going to the top display.

Decorating Committee

The gym decorating committee is headed by Bette Uhlenbrauck with Mary Jo Hume as vice chairman. Members of the committee are Ginny Engler, Dick Koehler, Kathy Gebhart, Dan Hertel, Lynn Hertel, Shirley Kobeski and John Towers.

Music at the homecoming dance after the game will be by the Harbie Schneider orchestra.

Snake Dance Thursday

1948 Grads to Participate in Brillion Homecoming for 1963

BRILLION — Taking an active part in the Brillion High School 1963 Homecoming celebration Thursday and Friday will be participants from the 1948 celebration.

Acting as judges of skit night Thursday will be Mr. and Mrs. Allen Wittmann, who reigned as king and queen of the 1948 homecoming; Mrs. Harold Eddinger, who was a member of the 1948 court, and Michael Ariens and Carroll Tikalsky, members of the championship football team in 1948.

Reigning over the 1963 festivities will be Bob Knoespel, a senior, and Kay Campbell, a junior. Members of the court are Henry Carstena, Connie Hacker, Jerry Krueger, Sandy Winkler, Gary Behnke, Audrey Berkholtz, Robert Keller and Cheri Hafeman.

A snake dance Thursday night will begin at the high school and wind its way up Main Street. Following the snake dance, skits will be presented by each of the high school classes in the high school gymnasium.

The first skit, presented by the junior class, is entitled, "Have You Ever Heard of the Brillion Lions." The freshman class will present, "What Victory Depends

Church Conference Meeting Wednesday

CLINTONVILLE — The American Lutheran Church Stewardship Department will conduct a stewardship meeting for a portion of the Appleton conference at Christ church at 8 p. m. Wednesday.

Councilmen, stewardship committee and stewardship chairmen of the various organizations are to be present at this conference.

Clintonville PTA Meeting Scheduled

CLINTONVILLE — The Longfellow - Junior High PTA will meet Wednesday night at the Junior High auditorium. From 7 to 8 p. m., parents may visit classrooms.

The business meeting is scheduled for 8 p. m. The modern math program will be discussed during the program.

Upon," and the senior class.

"What Is This Thing Called Football?"

Completing the skit program will be the sophomore class, "A Weigh to Victory." The judges will decide on the best skit and present a trophy for it.

The skit night program will be opened by John Haun, clerk of the school board. Gaylord Unbehauen, school superintendent, will speak. Acting as mistress of ceremonies both Thursday and Friday nights will be Pat Hepier, president of the Pep Club. Norman Dorschner is Pep Club advisor.

Friday night the Brillion Lions will meet Oostburg in the homecoming football game. Miss Hepier will introduce the king and queen between halves of the game. A dance in the gym will follow with a Brillion group providing the music. The king and queen will be crowned at 11:30 p. m. Decoration of the gym and the goal posts will be a project of the senior class, a tradition continued since the Homecoming game of 1948.

School Board Lists Topics For Meeting

NEW LONDON — Night classes, track construction, additions to the curriculum and a truant officer for the school district will be discussed at a board of education meeting at 8 p. m. today in the home economics room.

The night classes are business education, welding and woodworking for adults. The board also will take action on the addition of wrestling and golf to the school sports program. Additional secretarial help for the guidance department and main offices, warm water for the kindergarten rooms and the purchase of rugs for the kindergarten rooms also will be discussed.

A report on the Sugar Bush well will be given by the business manager. A report on the sale of rural schools also is expected.

Women Tie for High Series With a 547

NEW LONDON—Top honors in the Women's Happy Go Lucky bowling loop at Van's Alleys last week were shared by Dorothy Peters who coupled single games of 190 and 194 for a 547 series and Doris Bellile who turned in a 196 score for the top single game. Doris finished with a 543 series. Both of the top women keglers are members of the Franklin House team.

The only other honor count rolled was a 503 series posted by Evelyn Myers.

Licenses for Carriers to be Considered

The State Public Service Commission will hold three hearings at 11 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 16, in the Outagamie County Courthouse at Appleton on applications for amendments to contract motor carrier licenses.

Applicants are Clark Cartage Company, Green Bay, Carl Klemm Oil Transport, West De Pere, and Prunel Transfer Lines, Mishicot.

They seek permission to haul bulk petroleum for Schmidt Oil Company, Two Rivers, to bulk plant facilities, consumer terminals and retail outlets within a radius of 200 miles of Two Rivers.

Contract motor carrier licenses have been granted without hearing by the commission to Carl W. Greiner and Sons, route 2, Kaukauna; Frederick L. Schnell, Kiel, and Leland John Blohm, Seymour.

Greiner and Sons will operate milk tank trucks from Oneida, Freedom and Kaukauna to Fairmont Foods Company, Green Bay.

Schnell will haul milk in cans from Liberty and Meeme to Five Corners Cheese factory at Kiel.

Blohm will operate tank trucks to haul milk from Seymour, Osborne, Cicero, Black Creek, Oneida, Freedom, Maple Grove and Pittsfield to Wrightstown for Wrightstown Milk Products Company.

Guild Gives Clothing to World Service

BRILLION—"Each In His Own Way" was the theme of last Thursday's meeting of the Women's Guild of Peace United Church of Christ, Mrs. George Schenck was program chairman. Guild members took part in a story about members from all over the state who have given time to the organization.

Two boxes of clothing were sent to the Church World Service at Nanpance, Ind. The group received an invitation from the Ebenezer Church of Christ, Chilton, to attend a special meeting in December observing World Community Day. The guild will be working on projects of friendship packets and layettes which will be donated that day.

Mrs. Leroy Klein will lead the Junior Youth Fellowship until the arrival of a new minister for the church. She will be assisted by Audrey Berkholtz and Anne Hensel.

Dominican Republic Is Topic at Rantoul

RANTOUL—The Dominican Republic was the topic of discussion at a recent meeting of the Women's Society of World Service of the Rantoul EUB Church.

Mrs. Ray Rusch acted as leader with Mrs. Albert Enneper, Mrs. Ray Guenther and Mrs. Milton Fischer taking part in the program.

Members of the group discussed plans for their country store and bake sale which they will have in Brillion in November.

It was decided to have a father-son banquet Oct. 21 in the church. Various committees were assigned for this project. Speaker for the event will be a representative of the reformatory at Green Bay.

WSWS members are working on friendship packets and layettes which will be presented at the World Community Day observance Nov. 1 in Ebenezer Church of Christ, Chilton.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Armin Pingel and Mrs. Harold Pingel.

League Meets

CLINTONVILLE — Women of the St. Martin Lutheran congregation have been invited by the St. John Lutheran women to the Lutheran Women's Missionary League's fall rally on Oct. 16. Registration will be from 9:30 to 10 a.m.

The topic will be, "The Mission of the Church is Missions." It will center around home missions pertaining to this district.

Chicago Rail Show Displays 'Progress'

Telling the story of modern railroading progress — present and future — is the purpose of the Railway Progress Exposition in Chicago Oct. 9-16.

This railroad showcase will reflect the $17.4 billion postwar modernization program of the railroad industry, in displays and exhibits.

Highlights of the program include electronic devices, radio and television communication, new type cars and freight handling equipment, centralized traffic control and modern signal systems, "push-button" freight yards, and new, more powerful locomotives.

According to the Association of American Railroads, along with improved equipment and automated installations has come better ways of handling specific transportation problems, such as trailer-on-flat-car, or piggy-backing, a method of combining local trucking flexibility with the long-haul advantages of railroads. Another such "better way" is the single-cargo train for hauling just one kind of load — such as coal — at a time to eliminate the delay and expense of switching cars.

Reduced maintenance costs are emphasized too in new methods and equipment for servicing track and road beds. Track, for example, is now manufactured in continuous, welded sections of as much as a mile in length. This eliminates the clackety-clack as well as resulting in lower maintenance costs.

High School Teacher To Address Lions Club

NEW LONDON — Greg Charlesworth, a high school teacher, will speak at a meeting of the Lions Club at 6 p.m. Tuesday at Elwood Hotel.

October is membership month. Appointments will be made for assignments for the birthday calendars by Chairman Norbert Klatt. The project is to be completed by Nov. 1.

A committee also was named to select a new meeting place. Members of the committee are Robert Neilson, chairman, Emil Gehrike, Marlin Fuerst and Don Polzin.

Display Works of 23 French Novelists

BY JAY JOSLYN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
The attraction of the creative act heightens the interest in the display of the works of today's leaders of French thought at the Fox Valley University of Wisconsin Center.

Included in the exhibit, on loan from Services Culturels de L'Ambassade de France in New York, are 23 pictures, manuscripts and finished products of novelists, among them such world-famous names as Samuel Beckett, Claude Mauriac, Marguerite Duras and Alain Robbe-Grillet.

Dr. Louise Witherell, professor of French, sponsored the display in the foyer and main hall of the Center. She pointed out that the writers represented — all primarily novelists — not only are prime movers of French thought but their influence is felt throughout the world.

Dramatists
Popularly, of course, the dramatists such as Beckett and the scenarioists such as Robbe-Grillet and Duras have the greater world following.

Although Dr. Witherell makes up the entire French teaching staff, the Center offers a comprehensive French program including an intermediate composition and conversation course usually found only in four-year colleges. Many of the classes have attracted qualified Fox Cities adults as well as college-age students.

The current display is only a part of the program the French department is planning for the Center and the community. On March 14, under the co-sponsorship of St. Norbert and Lawrence colleges, the Center will bring Le Treteau de Paris traveling company of players to the Center for a production of Jean Anouilh's "The Lark" in French. Last year the troupe, under the same 3-school sponsorship, appeared at Lawrence College.

Center Production
Later in the term, Dr. Witherell in cooperation with the Center's drama department will have her classes produce another Anouilh play in the original tongue.

While the current display gives a graphic survey of French thought leaders along with their biographies, its greatest attraction — to French speakers and non-French trained persons alike — is the exhibit of some of the writer's manuscript pages.

The printed page of the finished product fails to reveal the act of creation while the manuscript — many handwritten — reveals the effort and labor that produced the smooth flowing prose. A number of the writers in the exhibit apparently are extremely facile even in their rough drafts.

The display will remain on view through Oct. 19.

The Legion Goofs Again

The executive committee of the Wisconsin Department of the American Legion has recommended a law in this state which would ban Communists from speaking at the universities or state colleges supported by taxes. It would also apply the ban to anyone "known to advocate overthrow of the Constitution and refusing to answer questions with respect to communism or subversive activities before any duly constituted legislative committee, judicial tribunal or any executive or administrative body of the United States or any state."

Here is another example why, as a former Wisconsin post commander points out, the Legion has lost the confidence and respect of a lot of Americans, including many who fought in one of the World Wars or the Korean conflict.

Frederick Flick, past commander of Cudworth Post and at one time national chairman for education and scholarship in the midwest, said that those who approve of the latest restrictive recommendation "lack good judgment and good understanding . . . such contention shows a lack of faith in the strength of democracy."

The Common Market and Russia

The European Common Market has taken the first step toward establishing trade relations with Soviet Russia, a move long anticipated. The EEC will offer Russia a 25 per cent reduction in community tariffs on Russian exports of caviar, crab meat and vodka.

This may seem like a minor concession trade-wise, but it has important implications. If the Russians accept, it will constitute recognition of the community's negotiating authority. Up to now the Soviet Union has refused to acknowledge the Treaty of Rome, the document which set up the Common Market. The Russians have continued to conduct their trade relations with the individual Common Market member countries.

"We think this offer will be taken as a symptom of our receptive attitude toward the Russians," said Dr. Walter Hallstein, president of the EEC's Executive Commission. "We hope it will be received in the same spirit in which it is extended."

Diplomatic sources at Common Market headquarters in Brussels believe that acceptance of the offer by the Russians could mean a new East-West economic rapprochement is in the making. They believe it would lead to Common Market trade relations with other Soviet bloc countries like Poland and Hungary. In fact in the long run they think it would carry more assurances of East-West amity even than the nuclear test ban treaty.

The prosperity of the Common Market and the rise of a sister economic group, the European Free Trade Association (EFTA), is gradually producing a whole new alignment of economic powers in world trade. They join the United States and the Soviet bloc as major powers. Rapprochement between the Common Market and the Soviet bloc is just another factor necessitating a review of United States policy on trade with the Soviets.

The National Geographic

One of America's most respected periodicals celebrated its 75th birthday recently. And the National Geographic is deserving of all of the praise heaped upon it on this occasion.

This is a very unusual success story. The National Geographic never has been sold on newsstands (it is available only to members of the National Geographic Society) and yet its circulation today is a massive 3,535,000. Each issue is fat with quality advertising.

What person hasn't whiled away time sitting in a doctor's or dentist's office skimming through its pages? In how many homes does a collection of its issues occupy a prominent place on the bookshelf?

The Campaign to 'See the U.S.A.'

One of the reasons for the continuing unfavorable balance of payments for the United States has been the dramatic increase in travel in foreign countries by Americans. The ships in June are jammed with students on tours, attending university courses or just bumming. Former members of our armed forces who had their first overseas trip paid for by the government go back to show their families where they fought and where they stayed. Continued competition has brought down travel rates and the jet plane has made many foreign countries accessible to those on time budgets. It is financially possible for more and more Americans to take a European or even a South Sea vacation.

But this also has meant an increase in spending in other countries. Total American tourist spending jumped another 10 per cent last year to almost $2½ million. In contrast, foreign tourists spent only slightly over $1 million in this country in the same period.

The United States Travel Service, in an effort to change the flow of cash, campaigned for foreign tourists through a "Visit the U.S.A." slogan. There were ads placed in foreign tourist periodicals and Americans were given advice on how to welcome foreign tourists.

Now the National Association of Travel Organizations, made up of various chambers of commerce, hotel and motel associations and tourist promotion agencies, is campaigning for Americans to "see the U.S.A." They will not be discouraged from going to other countries. But there will be big efforts made to promote some of the wonder and advantages of vacations in our own country.

It's a wholesome campaign. It not only may help to keep cash in this country and stabilize the value of the dollar. Americans have become almost a breed of nomads, at least on a temporary basis. The tremendous increase in sales of house trailers, camping equipment and boats is one indication of our roving nature. But we often overlook many of the historical and traditional sites which can help us understand more about our heritage and our nation. The country is so vast that few of us can visit every area. A vacation spent in another section of the land is highly worth while.

Looking Backward

'Abolitionists Going to Pieces'

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Oct. 10, 1863.

The abolition cob-house in this state is falling to pieces with fearful rapidity.

Mr. Beardsley, whose letter in favor of the Democratic ticket we published, was elected speaker of the Assembly last year with the united help of the Republican party.

Judge Levi B. Vilas, who the Madison Journal says supports the whole Democratic ticket, was last year's chairman for the State Union Committee.

Col. William Vilas, whom the Republicans of Madison last week nominated for the Assembly, has declared for the Democratic ticket. Hon. A. R. R. Cutler, who was offered the Republican nomination for Assembly in the Fourth Ward of this City, the next evening made an eloquent speech for the Democracy.

Gov. Salomon has written a letter declining to support the Republican nominations. The Jefferson County Republican (newspaper) has hailed down the Republican ticket and substituted the names of Democratic candidates. Several other hither-to Republican journals have refused to take part in the party's programs.

Sen. Hopkins has declined the Republican nomination in Kenosha County. Williams, the Republican nominee for the Assembly at Sheboygan, has declined, and several other candidates in various portions of the State are about to follow suit.

The truth is, since Doolittle ran the Abolition ship off the course at Madison, its rotten hulk has leaked in the bottom, has leaked in the top, and leaked in every one of its sides.

25 YEARS AGO

LWV President Explains How Group Arrives at Decisions

Editor, Post-Crescent:

On Sunday, Sept. 29, there appeared in the Post-Crescent a letter from Lloyd G. Herbstreit, chairman of the Wisconsin Economic Freedom Committee, attacking the League of Women Voters for opposing and having testified against Joint Resolution 45S, the so-called "Liberty Amendment." Mr. Herbstreit did not discuss the League's position, instead he unjustly took issue with the way he believes the League arrives at a position. Inasmuch as Mr. Herbstreit's letter clearly indicates an inaccurate understanding of League methods, we feel that the public record should be set straight on the League's methods and procedures — methods and procedures which are central to the functioning of the League and of which the League is proud indeed.

Throughout the discussion of procedures, we will speak of the individual member because she is the heart and core of the League of Women Voters. Any woman who is twenty-one years old and an American citizen can become a member of the League.

The League operates on the national, state and local levels; and on all three levels, the program consists of study, discussion, and action. Any member is free to suggest an item for study and discussion to her local League. The local Leagues discuss the suggestions and send those approved by the group to the state or national board (whichever is appropriate) which compiles a list of all the study items suggested and sends this list back to the individual Leagues. There is an opportunity for discussion of any or all of the items on the list by the membership, and the membership chooses the delegates who will go to the convention and vote on the items which the entire League will study for the coming two years.

After an item has been chosen by the convention, it is studied by the individual League members before discussion meetings are held. The state and national offices prepare materials to help the local Leagues in their studies; however, these are not the only sources used. Any and all material pertinent to the subject can be introduced, the object being to examine all facets and aspects of the subject. After the subject has been thoroughly studied and discussed, the local League arrives at conclusions which represent the feelings of the majority of the members taking part in the discussion, and these conclusions along with all the other opinions presented are sent to the appropriate state or national board which synthesizes the conclusions of all of the local Leagues. This synthesis is then sent back to the local Leagues before it is presented to the convention for adoption, change, or rejection. Only after study and discussion by the local Leagues and adoption by the convention of the delegates of the local Leagues can a position be acted upon. In every instance where the individual member is a part of the procedure — in planning, in studying, in discussing, in arriving at a conclusion — the individual member is given adequate notice of the time, place and subject of the meeting so that she may participate if she wishes.

After a position has been adopted, it does not necessarily remain a League position forever. Every two years all the state and national positions are reviewed by the local Leagues, and recommendations are made to the state or national boards that the position be retained as it stands, that it be dropped, or that it be placed on the program for re-study. On the night of Sept. 24, fifty members of the Appleton League met for the purpose of reviewing our current national positions. This meeting decided to retain, among others, the two positions on which we oppose Joint Resolution 45S — (1) opposition to constitutional limitations on tax rates and (2) opposition to the constitutional changes that would limit the existing powers of the Executive and the Congress over foreign relations.

When action is necessary, the individual member can clearly no longer be the focal point of the organization. It simply is not feasible for 2,700 League members in the state of Wisconsin to testify before the legislature. The members arrive at broad positions: the national, state and local boards of directors decide whether individual pieces of legislation come within the scope of these positions. Having decided, they use the authority delegated to them by the individual members to testify before the appropriate legislative body in the name of the League of Women Voters. Consequently, if Mrs. Abrahamson and Mrs. Clausen made similar statements on Joint Resolution 45S, it is not because they were told what to think by some higher officer but because they were told what to say by the general membership.

Is Alleged High Cost Of Local Government Demonstrable in Fact?

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The instinct of the politician confronted with problems in his own jurisdiction that he cannot resolve is to divert attention from them to others beyond his responsibility. Thus the Democratic state administration for the last year has deliberately and with considerable skill popularized the idea that the high cost of government to the taxpayers of Wisconsin is primarily the result of local government and not what has gone on in Madison.

Like most assertions of the politicians on the firing line, the thesis requires examination. Upon examination, it is not quite as plausible as it sounds.

It is quite true and statistically demonstrable that about eight out of 10 dollars spent on non-federal programs in Wisconsin are spent for what are known as "local government" activities. From that it may well follow that any hope for a reduction in tax costs — or even a stabilization — must be related to what is going on in local government.

That is the favorite theme of Gov. John W. Reynolds, who has also complained that nobody paid much attention to his plan for a top quality examination of the structure of local government, with the objective of reforming it for the relief of the hard-pressed taxpayer.

YES, BUT
There can be no very good reason for opposing such a study, although the appeal from Democrats in this regard comes somewhat late. Republicans generally suspect that Mr. Reynolds is not so interested in doing anything about local government costs, as he is in transferring the taxpayer's resentment and concern from the state capitol to city hall.

If such a study is made, and presumably it will be made sometime, there are many corollary questions that require consideration if the conclusions are intended to be useful. For example:
How much of the cost of local government in Wisconsin is due to the mandate of state legislation, imposed by the politicians controlling the state government, rather than the wishes or the deliberate decision of the people running their own cities, villages or towns?

In making comparisons, with other states, how does Wisconsin rank in the degree of local government administration of basic services, including welfare, schools and highways? On the face of it, Wisconsin has had a tradition of local operation of the most costly services, with obvious consequences in the statistical comparisons.

And how much is the spending policy of a typical Wisconsin community influenced by the fact that increasing amounts of state aid are flowing from the treasury into the localities, and notably again for schools, welfare and highways?

STEREOTYPES

There are some stereotype assumptions that are trotted out every time the comparative cost record of Wisconsin localities enters public discussion.

In recent weeks, to illustrate, there has been a spate of editorial comment about the prolixity of local government in this state. There are too many counties and too many towns, it is said. They should be consolidated to reflect the conditions and the requirements of the century following their original definitions. Again, there will be little quarrel with such assertions. But their importance in fiscal terms tends to be exaggerated. Local government mechanical arrangements reformed to an ideal degree would not bring about appreciable tax savings. The functional operations of government must be modified.

Moreover, it is curious how little interest there is in even some of the obvious reforms that are available in governmental organization. There has been anxious talk for a quarter of a century about the consolidation of counties. Always in the forefront of such publicity are Forest and Florence Counties, both tiny, both relatively expensive, but with strained local tax bases that require heavy dependence upon the state treasury. But memory does not recall a single bill on the subject introduced in the legislature in the last two decades.

Watching Too Much TV Affects This Columnist

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

On the chill and rainy days this past summer in the country, I spent some time watching television in more sustained segments than I had ever done before, and today I'd like to discuss some of the moral and intellectual ramifications of this medium. . . .

But first a word from my syndicate. . . . Do you know that the Harris column is more widely syndicated and read than any other column written by a man named Harris? Young wives say, in interviews from coast to coast: "I prefer Harris because his verbs are so clean, his adjectives glisten for hours with a lustrous sheen, and his conjunctions fit so superbly and luxuriously."

To get back. . . . What most fascinated me about the medium is its ritualistic attitude of imitation. There is not the slightest deviation from the accepted canons of each stereotyped program; all the parts seem interchangeable, including the MCs, the panel contestants, the family groups, the comedy routines, even the poignant dramas of. . . .

I'd like to interrupt to remind you to watch for next week's columns, which will plumb the depths of the human mind, soar to unprecedented heights of speculation, and offer a well-rounded, warm, human, gripping and yet funny overview of the cosmic situation today.

Lawrence Says Fallacy Exists About Jobless Rate in Nation

Lack of Demand Behind Number of Unemployed Citizens

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON—Fallacies sometimes get a long start over truth. It takes a long time to dispel them.

One of the fallacies of the day is that lack of education is responsible for most of the nation's unemployment, and that a high percentage of Negroes, for instance, are out of work today just because they do not have enough education.

Walter W. Heller, Chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, has, however, just pointed out that the unemployment rate for male workers of all races having an eighth-grade education or less rose in the five-year period from 1937 to 1962 by about one-half, while the unemployment rate for those who graduated from college more than doubled.

Mr. Heller spoke before the American Council on Education, here the other day, and he didn't discuss any aspects of the racial controversy. He emphasized only the relation between education generally and employment opportunities. His dispelled, incidentally, a widespread fallacy about "automation" as the cause of much of today's unemployment.

He said: "Though total unemployment has been consistently higher since 1957 than in the years before, its general pattern has not changed significantly."

No Evidence Found
"If 'automation' were generating a new surge of technical unemployment, it would surely be reflected in rising relative unemployment of those with low educational attainment and shrinking relative rates for those with college educations. But the evidence is to the contrary."

Dr. Heller revealed that, among those workers with even a little college education, the unemployment figure also rose, in contrast to the group with an eighth-grade education or less, where unemployment showed a sizable drop. He added:

"It does not appear that the ranks of the unemployed have been increasingly swollen by persons of low competence, nor that shortages of trained college graduates now block the path to full employment and thus threaten to frustrate the stimulus of tax cuts and other expansionary policy."

Dr. Heller said his conclusions are supported also by a comparison of the years 1954 and 1962, when the unemployment rate for highly trained professional technical workers, averaging over 16 years of school, was exactly the same in both years. He pointed out that education and skill are very important—that, "whether the economy is booming or stagnating, the most poorly educated come off second best, and that 'a grade-school graduate is five times as likely to be unemployed as a college graduate.' He then declared:

"But even if we could wave a magic wand and make every worker a college graduate, we would not solve the unemployment problem. There simply are not enough jobs—not enough holes of any kind, square or round—to absorb both the unemployed, the technologically displaced and the new entrants all at once. High unemployment must be laid primarily at the door of insufficient demand. It is an old-fashioned economic ailment . . . the $11 billion tax program is the centerpiece of policy to generate that demand and create the needed jobs."

One-Time Shot
Opinions will differ as to whether a one-time "shot in the arm" will provide the cure. For the task of job creation is one that the politicians constantly ignore. Many of them in Congress have made an alliance with the labor-union monopoly. While there are laws to prevent employers from conspiring together to fix prices, there are no laws to prevent unions, operating on an industry-wide basis, from increasing wage costs which force prices up higher than the consumer will absorb at the time. The result is unemployment.

Street "demonstrations" condemning racial discrimination in employment will not create new jobs. They may lessen some of the discrimination, but, in some instances, such demands can be met only by discrimination against whites to provide jobs for Negroes.

The bigger challenge in job creation lies in the field of economic opportunity for everybody. "Civil rights" legislation will not solve the problem. The time devoted to that controversy will only postpone the day when Congress comes to grips with measures dealing with unemployment for all citizens.

Job Creation
Job creation deserves more attention than it is getting today, inside and outside the administration. Capital is available for investment, but only in businesses that earn a fair return and pay equitable dividends. Small businesses have a hard time making good profits because their wage costs are affected by the high scales of their bigger competitors. Expansion, therefore, is related to profits. Employment is naturally increased when demand for goods increases. But, in an unstable economy, demand fluctuates. The rise in the cost of living, for instance, means a cut in the purchasing power of the dollar. This produces an unstable economy, and the result is unemployment.

Soviets Approach U. S.

In Bid to Buy Wheat

NEW YORK (AP)—Soviet diplomats have made the first direct approach to United States officials for the purchase of four million tons of American wheat, the New York Times said today.

A Washington dispatch said the Russians indicated, through informal diplomatic soundings, they were ready to conclude a sale with cash as soon as President Kennedy approved the deal.

Administration officials said on Monday Kennedy probably would announce his approval today, or Wednesday at his news conference.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says during an interview he would "like to see a good lively fight" on the future course of the Republican party by the delegates to next year's GOP national convention. He wants Republicans to battle out policy differences publicly, then pick a presidential candidate best representing majority views proclaimed in a terse party platform. He was interviewed in his office on the Gettysburg College campus. (AP Wirephoto)

Agree on Policy, Then Select Best Candidate, Ike Urges Republicans

they include, for example, civil rights?

A. I don't know exactly what he has said about civil rights, but I think he has probably taken a moderate course. I believe he in an unstable economy, demand fluctuates. The rise in the cost of living, for instance, means a cut in the purchasing power of the dollar. This produces an unstable economy, and the result is unemployment.

Income Tax Issue

Q. Sen. Goldwater professed himself to be mystified, saying he thought he had made his views on the issues very clear.

A. I may have been mistaken, but I thought at one time he had argued for complete repeal of the graduated income tax. In this I have been told that I was mistaken. But a couple of weeks ago, in an interview, he said he was against it in principle. He thought the only practical thing to do was to keep the graduated tax in proper bounds, useful bounds, that would do the least damage to incentives and our capabilities of accumulating reinvestment capital while we were getting the necessary revenues to run the country.

I accept this attitude, except that I believe the graduated income tax is, within reason, correct in principle, too. I think unquestionably his view now is one that would be close to mine. But there have been a number of his views in the past that my friends and I, in our talks, have just not known in detail.

Must Outline Position

I assume that if he comes into a position of candidacy, that he will try to take each of these things—the farm problem, sound fiscal proposals, foreign affairs and whatever—that he will define his approach in terms that a man can say, "I can take this," or, "I would object to this."

Q. Specifically, on civil rights Goldwater has said he is opposed to what is called the public accommodations proposal. I wonder what your view on that particular proposal is?

A. Personally, I would think if we are going to get into this thing as a matter of law, and if you could get it passed, we should base our effort on the 14th and 15th Amendments (to the Constitution).

If I had to vote on this thing on the theory that the interstate commerce clause (of the Constitution) would give you the necessary authority to establish such a law, and enact it and enforce it, I would be very doubtful. I can't believe the framers of our Constitution would try to take the interstate commerce clause and make it apply to a little filling station or a hamburger place, so as to regulate who could come in there and who couldn't.

Emotional Problem

I do believe that this public accommodations problem is probably the most emotional thing that the Negro faces, for the simple reason that he sees it every day.

I would hope that here we would have an awful lot of moral suasion—as much as law—because I can see many ways that you probably could settle this thing.

Q. An incumbent president usually is supposed to have the odds on his side. What makes you think that a Republican can beat Kennedy next year? I assume you think that.

A. Yes, I do. I think, of course, you have to have the right combination. You have to clearly establish a clean-cut program of action. This you do in your platform. Then you have to have a candidate who can appeal to the people in the mass with the logic of his position, pointing up where he can do things better than his predecessor, and one who enjoys the respect of the United States.

Silent On Own Choice

And along with that, he should have a very fine vice presidential nominee who would do the same things.

I have kept very still in expressing a personal preference in this field. I want to see every possible candidate putting his personal program or personal platform before the public. Then let it be debated.

Q. What sort of mechanics could such a potential candidate use? Sen. Goldwater was asked the other day, "Why don't you make your views clear to the president (Eisenhower)?" and he said, "Well, I am not running. So it isn't time for me to say anything."

A. I think he has a right to say that. After all, I think he conducts a column—it isn't in the particular newspaper I take—and then he is making a number of speeches. But they are often off-the-cuff, so they are not studied statements. I think that before he can be considered a truly serious candidate he has to do his best to make his views clear.

For Short Platform

Q. Do you have a private preference among the presidential possibilities?

A. No, honestly I don't. I would love to see a very fine and short program or platform come out of the committee and go to the floor of the convention, because if it was could be short enough you might get a minority report and there could be a debate right on the floor.

I would like to see a debate on the policies and issues, and on said, "You can't transfer from one our approach. Then, that being out of the way, I would like to see a good lively fight so you could have the feeling of consensus of Republican thought before making the nominations.

I have said this: There are three or four men in the United States I think are more highly qualified to take over the duties of that office than most others.

Q. Will you name them?

A. No, I had better not. I have no intention of getting people in here and trying to be a kingmaker. I would deplore that on anyone's part and I certainly want to have no part of it.

Nixon Highly Qualified

Q. There has been talk that the Republicans might turn again to Richard Nixon as the strongest man to contend against President Kennedy. Would you like to see Nixon have another chance?

A. I don't think he wants it. He is still a very highly qualified man and of course they are going to get a lot of support. I personally, of course, people would remember. But he is very well, you might say, "atmosphered" in the duties and the tribulations and the trials and the tests that come to groups, than has the other party committees."

Seniority Aids Cause

South Enjoys Strong Position in Washington

BY J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., complaining the other day about the power enjoyed by Southern Members of Congress, declared:

"The sober truth is that while Grant might have taken Richmond the South has taken Capitol Hill."

Douglas, who wants new laws on civil rights, was somewhat in the position of a football coach talking about how tough the opposition is.

Still, as can be demonstrated mathematically, the South does have a strong position at the Capitol. This is a factor contributing to new talk of diluting the role of seniority in reaching the top in Congress.

As things now stand, seniority is the basic factor in getting good the top man. And this is very important.

Q. Have you had any conversation with him about this?

A. When he came from California to New York, he called me and said that one reason he was could be free to talk about political questions without, by any manner of means, being considered as a political candidate. He said, "You can't transfer from one state to another like that and be considered." So he said that he was removing himself absolutely.

Civil Rights Gains

But I suppose if suddenly there was a wave of support and that threw him again into the race, there would be no question about his capacity to perform the job.

Q. In your race in '32 and '36 I think you got a larger percentage of the Negro vote than any other Republican has in modern times.

A. In the first four years of my Senate majority leadership. But 50 years ago Speaker Joseph Cannon more done about civil rights than had that power and abused it so there had ever been in any four that the House took it away from years since 1865, and yet there him.

Q. There has been talk that the Republicans might turn again to Richard Nixon as the strongest man to contend against President Kennedy. Would you like to see Nixon have another chance?

A. I don't think he wants it. He is still a very highly qualified man and of course they are going to get a lot of support. I personally, of course, people would remember. But he is very well, you might say, "atmosphered" in the duties and the tribulations and the trials and the tests that come to groups, than has the other party committees."

Committee assignments and chairmanships.

Southerners hold more than their geographical share because so many of them have been in Congress for so long, sometimes sympathetic and sometimes opposed to national administration purposes.

The new talk is circulating among a group of self-styled "loyal" House Democrats who say they would not abandon seniority. But they would strike at the seniority of those members who were found to be actively disloyal to the party in presidential elections.

They would have the party caucus, which makes committee assignments in the House, pass over those representatives who support the opposition in 1964.

Those named could be removed from committees on which they have long seniority or could be denied further promotion on the committees. This would lessen their chances of becoming chairmen.

An appraisal of what chances this movement has will have to await the 1964 presidential campaign to see who among the Democratic members might bolt the national ticket. Some Southerners have bolted in the past, and some are restive about 1964.

Chance Not Strong

But the chances of Congress tinkering very much with the claims of seniority are not all strong.

This is true even though arguments can be made that the system gives power to men who are not necessarily qualified.

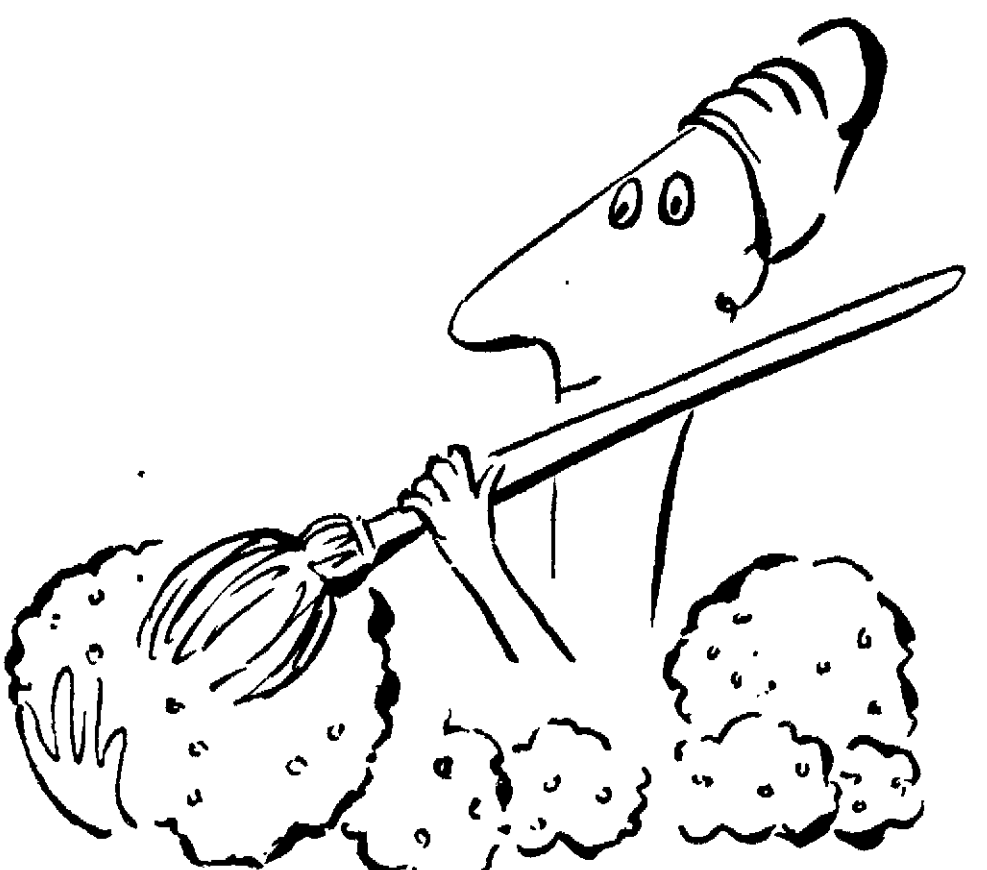

The question that up to now has countered attempts to junk the system is this: What better way is there to choose the chairman?

Chairmen could be appointed by the speaker of the House and the Senate majority leader. But 50 years ago Speaker Joseph Cannon more done about civil rights than had that power and abused it so there had ever been in any four that the House took it away from years since 1865, and yet there him.

Q. There has been talk that the Republicans might turn again to Richard Nixon as the strongest man to contend against President Kennedy. Would you like to see Nixon have another chance?

A. I don't think he wants it. He is still a very highly qualified man and of course they are going to get a lot of support. I personally, of course, people would remember. But he is very well, you might say, "atmosphered" in the duties and the tribulations and the trials and the tests that come to groups, than has the other party committees."

Great Inventions of Our Time

The Sponge Mop

This is a sponge mop. It was invented by one of the great women of our time. Prior to this invention, she was just an ordinary housewife, but, her great scientific discovery brought her instant fame. When interviewed, the inventor stated that this invention was born of necessity. She had accumulated a mountain of dirty sponges that needed cleaning, so, she invented a mop for sponges. This invention is in universal use today. We do have sponge mops at Prange's. We also have floor mops and rag mops and car mops. You'll find hundreds, yea thousands of useful things on sale at Prange's during our big 76th Anniversary Sale. This Sale starts Monday, Oct. 14 at 9 A.M., at Prange's. Look for our Anniversary Section in Sunday's paper, and plan on rushing down to soak up savings!

Two College Theaters To Honor Shakespeare

'King Lear' Set at Green Bay UW Center, Lawrence to Give 'Macbeth' Next Spring

BY JINGO
April 23 next year will be the 400th birthday anniversary of the Bard of Avon. Such an occasion should be marked appropriately—and it will at the Green Bay University of Wisconsin Extension Center.

Jingo

certainly is hoped that Clark's production of the exciting "Macbeth" won't compete with Frisch's "Lear."

Since neither drama is being dug out of mothballs for the festival of the author's birthday—either of the shows can be seen some place in the nation any given month—a measure of Shakespeare's greatness can be taken. This was a man who wrote for audience in the abstract. His works titillate the factors in an audience that remain unchanged. This man who "knew little Latin and less Greek" knew men, whether strutting their space through petty time or sitting in an audience.

Jingo wonders how many of the scribbles for TV will be remembered on their 400th birthday. Even one is unlikely. Today's writers—and especially the TV writers—work for a specifically measured audience. Any logician can tell you of the dangers of going from the specific to the general, hence today's writers fail to touch the essence of audience and are thrown from their vaulting ambition.

At Fox Valley Center Frisch, well known in the area for his ambitious drama work at the Fox Valley University of Wisconsin Center and the labors he followed at the Madison campus with Fox Cities personnel, will keep his Green Bay company busy before its April date.

In fact, the first appearance of this year's edition of the Players is Thursday of this week when they open a three-night engagement of Samuel Beckett's mystifying "Waiting for Godot." Also before the Bard's birthday will be the appearance of Euripides' "Electra" on Nov. 21 through 23. Last year Frisch produced an equally fine program: Ionesco's "The Bald Soprano," Cheloderode's "The Blind Men," Simpson's "A Resounding Tinkle" and Saroyan's "The Cave Dwellers."

Fine Director
Jingo doesn't know the kind of physical plant at the Music-Drama room at the Center at 1567 Deckner Ave., but he does know what Frisch did in the make-shift "theater" at the Fox Valley Center. With even a hint of accommodation at Green Bay, Frisch is sure to produce a bang-up show—one worthwhile taking Packer Trail to see. Curtain is at 8:15 p.m.

If you can't see a good production of the leader of the modern theater or the master of the Greek classics, be sure to make it a point to join Frisch and company for the Bard's birthday. Old Will would appreciate it, and so would Jack.

3 East Germans Flee
ESCHWEGE, Germany (AP)—A former border guard led two other East Germans across the mined Iron Curtain to West Germany Sunday.
Police said the three men had to crawl for almost two miles in driving rain.

Janet Margolin and Keir Dullea, who won the best Actress and Best Actor awards at the San Francisco Film Festival, are shown in a scene from the prize-winning movie "David and Lisa." The movie plays Wednesday through Friday at the Viking Theater in Appleton before moving to the Brin Theater in Menasha for three days beginning Sunday. The Menasha showing is the first of the Art Film Series sponsored annually by the Friends of Bergstrom Art Center.

suspenseful, imaginative story to The Richard Boone Show. In "Wall to Wall War," Warren Stevens, a deranged veteran who thinks his fellow office workers are too complacent, turns the office into a Friday night battlefield.

8:30-9 (Channel 2) — Carol Burnett is the guest on The Jack Benny Program, which is good news for comedy fans. Carol tries to break Jack of some old habits.

9-10 (Channel 11) — The Fugitive, like Combat, begins a two-part. "Never Wave Good-bye" is closer to the true spirit of this series than preceding episodes.

David Janssen is happy working as a sailmaker in California and falling in love with Susan Oliver. But he dare not fall into the trap of getting settled.

9-10 (Channel 2) — Roy Castle provides the brightest moments on The Garry Moore Show as a puppet, singing "Get Married" with Garry, Steve Lawrence and Durdward Kirby (and introducing his wife Fiona), and in the "Look For the Silver Lining" finale. The skits (a Senate investigation into pizza and a psychiatric investigation into the story of Snow White called "The 12th Hour") have their moments.

'Morning Sun' Stark Drama With Music

BY WILLIAM GLOVER
NEW YORK (AP) — With "Morning Sun," off Broadway's Phoenix theater makes a stimulating excursion into unusual musical drama.

A stark fable of good and evil in the old Southwest, the production unfolds slowly but packs a worthwhile measure of reward for the viewer willing to accept its rather specialized moodiness.

Patricia Neway raises her throbbing soprano voice as the bitter, tormented mother in a plot taken by Fred Ebb from a story by Mary Deasy. It is a narrative of deceptive simplicity, a parable of ironic harshness.

Two Climaxes
As Miss Neway's son, Bert Convy discovers innocent goodness is not enough as he sets forth in search of fortune. There are two "Morning Sun" climaxes of unforgettable tension. In one, the people of a town sing an anthem of abrupt vengeance. The other is a matriarchal discovery of belated truth.

Miss Neway's vocal exaltation is used in a score by composer Paul Klein that is more serviceable than memorable. The singing of the company at large is hearty.

Two difficult dancing assignments are carried off by Danny Lockin, as another son, with evocative polish. And director Daniel Petrie holds the cast in a stylized performance that avoids artful archness most of the way.

Charles Passes Along Stories From Recent 130-Mile Hike

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

POTPOURRI — During my recent 130 mile hike I met so many people and found so many small stories that gentle reader must please excuse me if I hark back to the jaunt from time to time. As today:

In little Quinney in Calumet County, I stopped to visit Oscar and Imelda Steffen and their daughter, Carol. Seeking to help me establish the population of the community (45). Carol counted off the local folks on her fingers, then halted.

"Can I count cats and dogs?" she asked.

Just by the way, I discovered a rare tree on the Chilton's main street and I wonder if it is generally known that it is there. The rare one is a natural hybrid of a mountain ash and is used ornamental in Europe. It is a mountain ash with pinnate-like leaves rather than the kind we know so well with the compound leaves.

The rare tree, a hybrid between Sorbus Intermedia and Sorbus Aucuparia, should probably be called Sorbus Hybrida. It stands near to an ordinary mountain ash tree with which it can be compared.

I have seen only one of these hybrids in Wisconsin and hence I was surprised to discover this one.

There are many communities in the United States whose names are mispronounced. One of the oddest is Pierre, South Dakota, which is strangely pronounced as "Peer." Wisconsin has a number of such places, but I was amused to find that little Rosecrans (population about 30) is invariably pronounced Rosencrans.

So don't salt your food at the table, don't use it in cooking, and don't eat preserved foods such as sausage, corned beef, pickles, bacon, salt pork, smoked ham, olives, potato chips, pretzels or others that are salted either for flavor or for preservative.

You will get enough natural salt in what you eat.

If overweight, a loss of pounds will help the eye problem. People accustomed to several alcoholic drinks a day should cut down.

These diet restrictions are for the treatment program, the control and limitation of glaucoma. They have no relation to the cause, which is an increase in fluid pressure inside the eyeball.

Repel Sand Flea
Dear Dr. Molner: Is there anything to be taken internally or some preparation to apply that will repel sand flea biting?—MRS. E. R.

I know of nothing to be taken internally, but there are many good insect repellents available—in liquid form, or aerosol sprays.

Never take a chance on diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper for a copy of the booklet, "Diabetes—The Sneaky Disease." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Because of the tremendous volume of mail received daily, Dr. Molner regrets that he cannot answer individual letters, but whenever possible he uses readers' questions in his column.

ator and I know she would be pleased to let you see it. My bet is that the switchboard dates back to about 1900.

I discovered during my visit to Casco (population 500) that the village was named by a pioneer of that community, Edward Decker. Reason for the monicker he chose for the village was the fact that he had come from another Casco—in Maine.

On the left side of Trunk "C" going into Poland is a piece of twine which would surely measure that long. First come first served, kids! I think.

Dr. Tong told me that many of Peterson's building company and the words used by the Polynesians it is supervised with extreme care in Samoa reflect the odd pronunciation of the old chief, and his guess—as well as mine—is that the misformed words will stay in the language for many, many Peterson said. ## Thyroid Gland Affects Rate of Metabolism

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D. may not indicate it specifically.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it possible to have a slightly sluggish basal metabolism rate that cannot be detected in a routine physical examination?

I am 30 and always have been overweight, more so as a child, but even now I am 20 pounds too heavy. I require more sleep than the average person and generally have less pep. MRS. H. T.

I certainly don't suggest giving everybody thyroid medication because they happen to be sluggish, or overweight, or both, but thyroid deficiency is a more frequent trouble than is commonly supposed.

The thyroid gland, of course, is most directly involved in our metabolism rate, the rate at which we turn our food into energy.

It is indeed possible to have what you call a slightly sluggish metabolism or what, in medical parlance, is often called a subtle hypothyroidism.

A routine physical examination

Complaints of listlessness (in older people, sometimes such things as feeling colder than seems natural) can be a clue.

The next step: A basal metabolism rate test, or the more revealing protein-bound iodine test (a blood test) will indicate whether the thyroid gland is underactive.

If the test discloses that the thyroid is functioning properly—well, you know where you stand, at least. If it shows underactivity, a small dose of thyroid is often markedly effective.

If this should happen to be the situation in your case, don't expect thyroid medication to resolve your weight problem. It may well help, and it may be that if you develop regular eating habits you'll be able to shed the excess pounds and then keep them off. In turn, the loss of the "excess baggage" will contribute its share to keeping you active and in that way keeping your weight normal.

Diet Important
Dear Dr. Molner: Writing about glaucoma, you said that diet is important. What foods should one avoid?—S.S.

Salt restriction is perhaps as important as any single aspect of diet. This is to minimize retention of fluid in the body—a necessary goal in some other ailments, too, particularly heart disease.

When one is pounding gravel over long distances, it is always easy to smile at car-bound folks and I had one good chance to do it.

One day while I was strolling along my route of travel, I had seen some in a woodland earlier that day as I walked, and I gave directions.

"Oh, we couldn't go there," the driver said. "It's too far!"

Want to see an ancient switchboard still in operation? There is one—the oldest I have ever seen—in the Jacob Gasche grocery store on one of the back roads at Pilsen, Kewaunee County. Mrs. Gasche, a pleasant, interesting lady, is the local telephone operator—first served, kids! I think.

5 AHS English Students to Give Declamations

Five students have been working with their advisor, Miss Susan Nason of the English department, in preparation for the Appleton High School serious declamation contest, to be held during homeroom period on Friday, Oct. 14.

The students who are participating are:

Dennis Knasel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Knasel, 305 E. Frances St. Dennis, a junior, will do a cutting from the short story, "The Tell-Tale Heart," by Edgar Allan Poe.

Michael Nyström, a senior, son of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Nyström, 2408 S. Harmon. Mike's declamation is an excerpt from "Western Star," a narrative poem by Stephen Vincent Benet.

Gail Bergner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Bergner, 618 E. Harding St. Gail is a junior and will be doing a cutting from the novel, "Jane Eyre," by Emily Brontë.

John Forbes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Forbes, 907 W. Oklahoma St. John, a junior, will do a piece from the short story, "The Lottery," by Shirley Jackson.

Marilyn Jesse, a sophomore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jesse, 1512 Alicia Drive, she will do "Cosette" from Victor Hugo's "Les Misérables."

Spring Competition Plans Made by Junior Academy of Science

Jack Arndt, chairman of the Wisconsin Junior Academy of Science, has issued a reminder to school scientists to begin research projects for entry in the spring competition.

The Junior Academy program, a part of the University of Wisconsin Extension Division, receives financial support from the Wisconsin Academy of Science. It is designed to discover and develop scientific abilities and interests among the youth of Wisconsin.

Students conduct research under the guidance of a school mathematics or science teacher. Senior high school students will enter their projects in one of seven district contests during March and April. The top three entries from each district will be brought to the statewide meeting at the UW-Madison County Center, Wausau, for final competition on May 2.

Junior high school scientists compete only in regional contests. Six contests are scheduled for mid-May.

Robert Davidson, Kimberly High School, is northeast district chairman of the Junior Academy. The district competition will be held at Lawrence College, Appleton. No chairman has been selected for the north central district, which will hold competition at Stevens Point.

Committee Heads Appointed by Home-School Unit

KAUKAUNA — Program chairman for the Home-School Association of Holy Cross School will be Mr. and Mrs. Clarence DeBruin.

Merritt Kavanaugh will be finance chairman, George Burton, health and welfare. Kenneth Vock, boys' phy ed; Mrs. Stuart Black, girls' phy ed; Mrs. George Bodde, hospitality; Mr. and Mrs. Gene LaBorde, education and library, and Frank Muthig, publicity.

Mrs. Leland Scherer was named to head a bridge marathon committee and Clarence O'Connor has charge of the milk program.

The Rev. Andrew Quella, pastor, urged children, teachers and parents to continue to work together through the Home-School association.

Plans were discussed to purchase maps and globes for individual classrooms and a library book sale. Faculty members were introduced by Sister Jeanne D'Arc, principal, and the grading system was explained.

First grade nuns outlined the cross program for first graders. Attendance prize went to the grade taught by Sister Barbara Ann. Lunch was served by fathers.

2 Fox Cities Youths Members of Band at Stevens Point College

Two students from the Fox Cities area are members of the Wisconsin State College-Stevens Point band which will begin its new season Saturday with parade and half-time activities for the Homecoming.

They are Joseph Schutkowski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schutkowski, Menasha, a freshman music major, and Gary Fulcer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fulcer, Route 2, Hortonville, a freshman biology major.

Dr. Warren Lutz is director of the 75-members Pointer band. He has been rehearsing the organization for the "Meet the Band" half-time program and the new monogram "WSC."

Following the football season, Dr. Lutz will change the band to concert instrumentation with emphasis on new compositions for the wind section.

2-Day Indian Institute to Begin Friday

Community Leaders From NE Wisconsin To Meet at Neopit

Indian and non-Indian community leaders will meet Friday and Saturday at Neopit and Keshena for a "Northeastern Wisconsin Indian Institute on Community Resources." The program is planned to develop greater understanding between the Indian cultures and their neighboring communities.

Representatives from Menominee, Brown, Forest, Oconto, Outagamie and Vilas counties have been invited to participate. The program is open to youth and adults from the reservation communities of Mole Lake-Sakagon, Lac du Flambeau, Oneida, Potawatomi, Stockbridge-Munsee, and the Winnebago settlement in Shawano county.

At a Friday luncheon in Neopit, Gordon Bubolz, chairman of the Wolf River Regional Planning Commission will speak on the "Wolf River, Conservation and Tourism."

OSC Professor Key Speaker

Key speaker at the Keshena conference, later Friday, will be George E. Fay, assistant professor of sociology and anthropology at Wisconsin State College, Oshkosh. He will talk on "The History, Culture, and Future of the Northeast Wisconsin Indians."

The two-day program will include tours, workshop groups, demonstrations, campfire chats, and other speakers. Topics will include new programs, housing, education, industrial development, and resources of public and private agencies.

Judges, law enforcement personnel, educators, social workers and members of community or Christian action groups are among those who will attend the conference.

Kohler May Go After GOP Nod for Senate

Most Republicans in State Had Assumed Former Governor in Permanent Retirement

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — Walter J. Kohler of Sheboygan, only three terms as governor of the state in several decades, is pondering a bid for the Republican nomination for United States senator in the Wisconsin elections next year.

The disclosure has caused a flurry of excited speculation among top Wisconsin Republicans, most of whom had assumed that the popular former governor had gone into permanent retirement and who have tended to assume that the nomination of the party to challenge Democratic Sen. Proxmire will go to Wilbur Renk of Dane County.

Kohler has not declared his intentions firmly, but he has consulted some of his best political friends lately and is apparently willing to submit his name to the next Republican convention if there is assurance of reasonable party support.

Renk is evidently interested in the senatorial contest also, but he has said that he has no plan to make an early announcement of his decision on a future political career. He ran unsuccessfully for the nomination for governor last year. Although he was defeated decisively, he got some impressive support in rural and small town districts where the Republicans know they must run with maximum effectiveness in order to overtake the Democratic lead in the larger cities.

Old Friends

Renk and Kohler are old friends and close former associates. It was Kohler who named Renk to the board of regents of the University of Wisconsin a decade ago. Renk last year used that

County Board Officials Swap Budget Ideas

Winnebago and Outagamie Officials Outline Procedures

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — County board members and courthouse officials from nine counties met Monday at the Veterans Memorial Arena to swap ideas in the uncertain area of the reparation of annual county operating budgets.

The session was a district-wide workshop gathering of the Wisconsin County Boards Assn. About 30 persons were present.

M. H. Morrisette, county auditor for Winnebago County, a post created in 1952, and Alvin Woehler, Outagamie County business administrator, a post created this year, outlined procedures in budget preparation similar, but less detailed, than those performed by the Brown County clerk's office.

Morrisette works under the county board finance committee, and Woehler is under the jurisdiction of the executive committee of the county board. The post filled by Woehler is intended to be enlarged in functions should the Legislature pass a county government reform law allowing some form of county chief executive.

Winnebago System

Under the Winnebago County system, the auditor prepares budget forms for departments with the spending and revenue of now performed by city mayors.

Public Entitled To Know Result Of Labor Talks

Thompson Says Law On Secrecy Doesn't Apply to Discussions

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The anti-secrecy law which covers virtually all of the activities of state and local government in Wisconsin does not apply to mediation and negotiation meetings involved in labor-management relations in government, Atty. Gen. George Thompson has advised the Wisconsin employment relations board.

The opinion drew a distinction between "formal action" and "meetings" of governmental agencies, and the preliminary negotiations involved in wage bargaining and other matters relating to labor-management relations, as well as the mediation of labor disputes in government.

Public Has Right To Know

The formal approval of the results of such negotiations and mediation, the opinion declared, cannot be withheld from public knowledge.

The Thompson opinion quoted from authorities in the field of labor relations to sustain the inherent need for secrecy and confidentiality in labor negotiations.

The attorney general said on his own behalf:

"The success of mediation depends to a considerable extent upon a relaxed atmosphere in which both parties may put out exploratory suggestions without being held to account either by their principals, their opponents, or the public generally, as might be the case if parties were required to declare themselves publicly for or against a given proposal."

He added:

"Where a bargaining system is adopted akin to that operating in private industry, it is not likely that the legislature intended a municipal employer to be more seriously handicapped than private employers."

The rights of municipal employees to organize and to bargain collectively have been steadily broadened, and the state labor board now has a mediation function in many of the local disputes resulting from the new laws.

Crops Washed Out

The Castro government said 50,000 persons had been removed from their eastern Cuba homes to safer places, mostly because of rivers rampaging out of their banks under torrents of rain.

Flood waters washed out crops and stood across the central highway, only road from Havana through the eastern provinces.

A Miami committee of relatives of Cuba's political prisoners asked President Kennedy to aid the captives and other Cubans in the hurricane situation.

Cuban exile action groups in Miami urged renewal now of efforts to topple the Castro regime. They said Hurricane Flora had wrought more havoc in four days than anti-Castro groups have been able to do in more than 3½ years.

The U.S. aircraft carrier Lake Champlain reached Port au Prince, capital of Haiti, with helicopters that began a survey of devastation in that Negro island nation.

Flora prostrated Western Haiti in 24 hours after killing 17 persons on Tobago Island, off Venezuela. The storm jumped the Windward Passage to Cuba Friday.

Time Running Out for Two N. Dakota Tots

Children Suffering From Deadly Killer Muco Viscidosis

BY ANNA MARIE RAY

STERLING, N.D. (AP)—"You know they're going to go, but still it hits you hard when they do." Mrs. William Patterson was talking about two of her children—Richard, 9, and Betty Ann, 6.

They are bright, handsome youngsters. But the chances are they will not live much longer.

Richard and Betty Ann are victims of muco viscidosis, sometimes called cystic fibrosis. It's incurable despite all the efforts of medical science.

The Pattersons, who live on a farm eight miles northeast of this little town in southern North Dakota, know quite a lot about muco viscidosis.

3 Tots Already Dead

The same disease already has taken the lives of three Patterson children. Virginia died a year ago at the age of 7. Judy died eight years ago when she was nearly 4, and Donna Mae died 17 years ago at only 2 months.

Two others in the family—Le Roy, 12, and William Jr., 15, have slight touches of the dread sickness but evidently are not seriously afflicted.

There has been no sign of it in the other three Patterson children—twins Donald and David, 19, and Janice, 16.

Doctors say muco viscidosis is congenital and is passed on by parents. Glands of the lungs and pancreas produce abnormal amounts of thick mucus, clogging the vital organs and leading to infection.

Cold Dangerous

Both Richard and Betty Ann are familiar figures at St. Alexius Hospital in nearby Bismarck, where they take oxygen twice a week and are confined for frequent bouts of pneumonia.

Cold weather is dangerous for the youngsters, so they take their school lessons at home and stay in the house most of the winter. The family is not well off, and the state welfare department has helped them with expenses.

But the Pattersons are not ones for complaining. "We're so thankful that the disease does not affect the children's minds and that our other children have been very healthy," said Mrs. Patterson.

And Richard, at least, knows what is coming. "Yup," he chirped, "I'm living on borrowed time."

Former Senate Page

Baker was to have met with Senate leaders of both parties Monday afternoon but turned in his resignation before the meeting.

A former Senate page who came here from Pickens, S.C., Baker was named secretary of the majority eight years ago when Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson was to take over Baker's duties. Valeo, the majority pending action by Baker's wife is also on the government payroll, serving as records manager for the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee at $11,800 a year.

Mansfield said in a statement that Baker had "discharged his responsibility to the majority with great intelligence and understanding" and that "his great ability and his dedication to the majority and to the Senate will be missed."

Regrets Resignation

"Developments during the past few weeks, however, have made it apparent to him that it would be best if he withdrew from office," Mansfield added.

Peking Claims U. S. Ship Violated Border

TOKYO (AP)—Red China said today a U.S. warship intruded in China's territorial waters east of Paichuan Island in Fukien Province Sunday and an American plane flew over the Hsisha Islands off Kwangtung Province Monday.

It issued what it called its 265th statement except to say "its serious warning" in relation to these military provocations by the U.S. warship and military plane.

Assistant Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota who sat in at the meeting after which Baker's resignation was announced, said the Democratic majority, who had chosen him, did not request his resignation.

Others At Meeting

Among the other senators at the session were Wayne Morse, D-Ore.; Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M.; George A. Smathers, D-Fla.; Warren Magnuson, D-Wash.; Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., who has been conducting his own inquiry into Baker's business activities. "I was disappointed that Bobby did not come to the meeting to answer some questions," said Williams.

Francis R. Valeo, 47, administrative assistant to the majority leader, was assigned by Mansfield to take over Baker's duties. Valeo will serve as acting secretary to the confederence of Democratic senators.

Suit Filed Sept. 9

Baker's business dealings came to light Sept. 9 in a law suit filed in U.S. District Court by Capitol Vending Inc. against Serv-U Corp.

The suit alleged that Baker "as secretary of the Senate majority was able to and did represent" that he was in a position to assist in securing contracts for the North American Aviation Corp.

Further, it alleged that Baker received $5,600 for securing a vending machine franchise at Melpar, Inc., a North American subsidiary, Melpar's principal in the Washington area.

When the suit was filed, Baker denied that any influence was involved in behalf of Serv-U.

of the hearings, was searched this morning and no bomb was found. The guard of U.S. marshals that flanks Valachi as he walks down the hall and then sits behind him in the hearing room was strengthened, McShane said.

The added protection was "partly because of the tips and partly because we just don't want anything to happen," McShane said.

The underworld reportedly has placed a price of $100,000 on Valachi's head.

The subcommittee's chairman, Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said he had been informed of the general nature of the bombing and shooting tips but had no details. He said he planned to proceed as usual with the hearings.

Police Watchful

As McClellan banged the gavel to get the hearings underway, 12 minutes late, uniformed capitol police stood facing the crowd of spectators, on the ready for anything unusual.

Returning to the limelight after a recess of the Senate Investigations subcommittee hearings on organized crime, Valachi is scheduled to spell out the details of "at least two murders" and explore some of the gambling rackets, particularly the "numbers game."
